Americans Urged To Join Debate on Test Ban Treaty

GROUNDBREAKING — This group of officials observes as Mayor Richard Penn removes the first shovel of dirt marking the spot where Berger Hospital's new maternity wing will be located. Taking part in the ceremony yesterday were, from the left: Russel C. Palm, hospital director; Mrs. Margie Rhoads, obstetrics supervisor at Berger; Wayne Deeble, representing the Carmichael Architect firm; Mayor Penn; Mr. Gesling, handling the mechanical contract; Miss Ellen Leist, hospital superintendent; Mr. Bowman of the Don King Construction Co.; Harry Clifton Jr., hospital board member; Mrs. Doris Luna, representing Berger Guilds; Mr. Steck, electrical contractor; and Laurence Priest of the Circleville Junior Chamber of Commerce. Contracts for the $276,155 project were signed last month. Completion will mean the addition of a 15-bed maternity facility.

Yugoslav Quake Toll May Reach Total of 6,000

SKOPJE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Dazed survivors joined thousands of rescue workers today in sifting rubble for victims of Friday's earthquake, which reduced Yugoslavia's fourth largest city to ruins.

Army earthmoving equipment uncovered more than 600 bodies from debris where Moslem mosques and minarets and modern skyscrapers once stood.

City officials fear the death toll may run into the thousands. One official said it may reach 6,000.

It was not known immediately whether the victims included Americans, although some were known to have been in the city when the earthquake struck at dawn.

The two biggest hotels, the Macedonia and the Skopje, were destroyed. Officials said 260 tourists died in the Hotel Macedonia alone.

This is the height of the tourist season in Eastern Europe and many foreigners were in Skopje.

The quake—the worst natural disaster in modern Yugoslav history—destroyed about 85 per cent of the buildings in Skopje northern Macedonian capital, and left at least half of the population of 270,000 homeless.

It was hard to estimate the total number of injured. Officials said more than 2,000 persons were treated at emergency stations.

Authorities rushed in an emergency force of 10,000, mostly soldiers, fearing an outbreak of fries from broken gas mains.

Residents were warned against drinking water that may have been polluted. In one section, residents mobbed an army truck bringing in water.

The army set up canteens to feed the survivors.

Children were lodged in resort hotels taken over by the government.

President Tito, who decreed Friday and today as days of national mourning, was expected to arrive today. Premier Peter Szambolic arrived five hours after the earthquake and promised all possible aid to the survivors.

Survivors, many dazed and others weeping, spent the night in army tents or huddled under blankets.

Some gathered around bonfires, afraid to seek shelter in the few remaining buildings. By dawn, more than 90 new tremors were recorded in the area.

An eerie silence hung over the city, broken only by cries and moans. Men, women and children wandered aimlessly, clutching what few possessions they had saved.

Many wore pajamas. They fled from their beds in panic when the earthquake struck.

Space Communication Station Drifts Slowly above Earth

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The Syncom 2 space communications station, riding high more than 22,000 miles above the earth, drifted slowly today toward its goal as the world's first satellite to operate over one area of the globe.

At its present rate of speed, about 6,800 miles an hour, Syncom 2 will reach a point over the equator above northern Brazil next Saturday. Scientists plan to stop it there by sending radio signals to fire nitrogen jets which will adjust the satellite speed and angle.

If all goes well, the satellite's speed will increase to about 6,880 miles an hour and thus will be synchronous with the speed of the earth rotating below.

The earth at the equator travels 1,040 miles an hour, but Syncom 2 would be like a runner on an outside track who has to move faster to keep pace.

The above-Brazil point was selected as the best for communications experiments planned between the Syncom ground stations at Lakehurst, N.J., and on the ship Kingsport, anchored at Lagos, Nigeria, on the coast of West Africa.

Early communications tests were rated highly successful by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. The Kingsport beamed the music of "The Star Spangled Banner," voice tapes and Teletype messages to the drum-shaped package. The satellite sent them back "loud and clear."

Officials cautioned that true tests lie ahead when Syncom 2 will be in position for two-way transmission between Africa and the United States via the two stations. They predicted the satellite will be within radio range of both by Monday.

Project Director Alton Jones said major goals are to put the satellite in a synchronous orbit, stabilize it and then establish contact for a long period between Lakehurst and the Kingsport.

Because a satellite at Syncom 2's altitude would be within radio range of more than one third of the earth's surface, only three such craft would be needed for continuous worldwide communications coverage. They would seemingly stand still in space at evenly space points about 22,300 miles above the earth.

The lower-altitude Telstar-and Relay-type communications systems would require 40 or 50 satellities and far more extensive ground facilities.

Because of its small size, Syncom 2 will be restricted to radio, telephone, teletype and photo facsimile tests.

The space agency plans a larger Syncom, the first of which could be in the sky in 1965, to beam television and other communications.

A Delta rocket started Syncom 2 on its complex journey Friday.

Confederate Surrender To Be Reenacted

WEST POINT, Ohio (AP)—The surrender of Confederate Gen. John Hunt Morgan and his troops in this northernmost penetration into Union territory 100 years ago will be enacted in this Columbiana County hamlet Sunday.

Some 40,000 spectators are expected to witness a mock battle representing one in which Morgan and a handful of Southern soldiers were forced to give up. The staged battle and surrender is part of the nationwide commemoration of the Civil War Centennial.

The Stonewall Brigade of Winchester, W. Va., fires a salute today over the graves of the last two Confederate soldiers killed near Salineville.

Hundreds of mock troops converge tonight on Wellsville, near here in preparation for the sham battle. More than 600 will camp overnight at the battle site.

Up to 1,000 men, 50 horses and 50 canons will go into service Sunday.

Plumber Union Plans 'Holiday'

CLEVELAND (AP)—Members of Local 55 of the Plumbers Union, under fire for refusing membership to Negroes, met Friday night on the race issue and voted to declare a holiday next Monday.

George H. Fink, secretary-treasuresr of the local, declined to say if the holiday was called because of Negro demands for union membership.

Fink said every plumbing job in the city will be shut down Monday, and all plumbing jobs requiring union plumbers would be shut down today except for emergency work. The holiday will affect 1,400 union members.

Some 55 plumbers, pipe fitters and asbestos workers walked off the giant mall construction project Tuesday because contractors hired two Negro journeymen. plumbers. They went back to work Wednesday at the urging of an international officer of the union.

$396 Million in State Subsidies Are Paid Out

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State Auditor Roger W. Tracy reports that the state paid out $396,646,721 in subsidies during fiscal 1963 which ended June 30. The payments were up 4.8 per cent over the previous year.

Accounting for most of the in cease, Tracy said, were school foundation costs, including transportation.

Mother Sees 2 Daughters Killed

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A mother alighted from a bus with her five daughters Friday and watched in horror as two of them were struck and killed by a car.

The dead youngsters were Debra Jean Pinner, 9, and Donna Sue, 4.

Mrs. Charles Pinner and daughters Lydia, Brenda, and Carol were with Debra and Donna as they sought to cross Ohio 4 near their home about three miles south of here.

The driver, George William Lewis, 21, of Troy, was arrested after the coroner ruled the deaths traffic manslaughter. Officers quoted him as saying he saw the girls but could not stop in time.

Dems Expect GOP Help on Pact OK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic leaders are counting on strong Republican backing to help win Senate approval of the nuclear test ban treaty. But they don't intend to try to rush it through

In his address Friday night urging public support for the agreement, President Kennedy spoke indirectly to the Senate, saying: "I am hopeful that this nation will promptly approve the limited test ban treaty."

The Senate Democratic leader, Mike Mansfield of Montana, promised the Senate would move "as expeditiously as possible."

But in an interview with The Associated Press he added: "This is a very important breakthrough in our efforts to lessen cold war tensions, and we are not going to try to rush it through. The Senate will be given time to consider the whole agreement, including the fine print, if any, because the public has the greatest stake in this. This will be an open agreement, openly arrived at."

Kennedy, too, noted there will be debate "in the country and in the Senate. The Constitution wisely requires the advice and consent of the Senate to all treaties . . . all this is as it should be."

The Moscow agreement banning all nuclear tests except under ground must be ratified by a two-thirds vote of the Senate. If all 100 Senators voted it would need 67 dayes—the number of Democrats in the Senate.

But all Democrats may not vote for the pact, and Mansfield said Republicans will be the key to ratification, particularly the Senate GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen, who has not committed himself.

Said Mansfield: "It is my avowed hope Sen. Dirksen and I will be working shoulder-to-shoulder to this one when the chips are down.

"And I have every confidence in the fairness of the Republicans. I am certain that with them, it will not be politics, but what will be good for their country."

Dirksen stressed the need for care: "Every word and every line and every phase of the treaty must be carefully examined for its present and future effect."

The committee most directly concerned, Senate Foreign Relations, is scheduled to hear testimony Monday from Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman, who initialed the agreement for the United States.

The Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee and Senate Armed Services Committee also will sit in at the closed session.

Mansfield said he counts on Harriman to remove any doubts that U.S. interests are safeguarded in the treaty.

"His experience with the Soviet Union goes back two decades," he said. "He has never yet been taken in by the Russians and is not being taken in by them now."

Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., chairman of the Atomic Energy Committee, said Kennedy's speech was a good one which "I think will draw public support—I expect there will be a lot of letters to Senators asking them to suppor the treaty."

Cold Front Eases Sultry Temperatures

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The cold front was accompanied by widespread thundershowers that dropped up to an inch of rain in several areas from northern Colorado to Minnesota.

The temperature dropped considerably in some places as the cooler air moved in. Readings were as much as 20 degrees cooler. At Chadron, Neb., it was 61 compared with a 89 recorded 24 hours earlier.

Clear skies dominated the weather scene this morning over all of Ohio. Overnight low temperatures hovered around the 70-degree mark, with the humidity percentages for the most part in the high 80s and low 90s.

Some patchy ground fog and haze were the only factors to mark an otherwise "weather-free" situation early this morning.

The morning weather map showed a high pressure area centered over western North Carolina while a cold frontal system showed up in the Central Plains States. As it was Friday, warm, moist air was being funneled into the Ohio area from around the high pressure area, making the weather on the humid side once again today.

Soviets Display New Friendship

Some Western Envoys Say Relations Warm

MOSCOW (AP) — Nuclear test ban negotiators W. Averell Harriman of the United States and Lord Hailsham of Britain fly home today amid indications that the Soviets may be becoming more friendly toward the West.

Westerners who have contacts with Soviets say day-to-day relations during the test ban conference became considerably warmer when it was apparent that the Kremlin wanted the negotiations to be successful.

Several Western diplomats said they were invited to the homes of Soviet officials, something that almost never happens.

But some Western diplomats have warned that Premier Khrushchev may be hiding a few tricks, especially in his proposed nonaggression pact.

They argued that Khrushchev could make effective use of the pact if—and when—he decides to give Communist East Germany power over the Western supply routes to West Berlin.

Harriman and Hailsham will report to President Kennedy and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan on what they believe Khrushchev is thinking. They got the final items for their reports at a dinner given for them Friday night by Khrushchev.

Neither Harriman, undersecretary of state for political affairs, nor Hailsham, British minister for science, would reveal what Khrushchev told them.

But the Soviet Premier gave a clue to his thinking in an interview published by the newspapers Izvestia and Pravda.

Khrushchev began by hailing the proposed partial ban on nuclear testing, then said: "It is necessary to settle the question on which liquidation of international tension primarily depends—the question of a German peace settlement." He set no deadlines.

Rhodes Is Invited To Test Popularity

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes and six other prominent Republicans, including Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York, have been invited to enter the West Virginia presidential primary election next year.

State GOP Chairman Howard Corocoran said Friday he has sent telegrams to Rhodes, Rockefeller, Sens. Bary Goldwater of Arizona, Thruston Morton of Kentucky and Gordon Allcott of Colorado, and Govs. George Romney of Michigan and William Scranton of Pennsylvania.

West Virginia's preferential primary, May 12, 1964, is not binding on the state's delegation to the Republican National Convention.

Kennedy Lauds 'First Step' To Avoid War

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has urged all Americans to join in a historic debate over the nuclear test ban agreement which he called "an important first step" away from a war that could take more than 300 million lives in an hour.

Kennedy, speaking Friday night on radio and television to gather support for the treaty, said: "It is my hope that all of you will take part" in the debate "for this treaty is for all of us."

"It is particularly for our children and grandchildren, and they have no lobby here in Washington" said the President.

"This debate will involve military, scientific and political experts, but it must not be left to them alone. The right and the responsibility are yours."

"The historic and constructive debate" for which the President asked will center around the Senate, which must ratify the agreement by a two-thirds vote.

The President did not picture a bright road ahead. He was cautious and grave.

He cautioned that the American, Soviet and British agreement to ban all nuclear tests except under ground is not millenium. It will not, he said, resolve all conflicts, turn the Communists away from their ambitions or eliminate the dangers of war.

But he called it "a shaft of light" cutting into what had been the darkening prospects of mass destruction on earth—"an important first step—a step toward peace—a step toward reason—a step away from war."

And the President warned that a nuclear war "would not be like any war in history."

"A full-scale nuclear exchange, lasting less than 60 minutes, could wipe out more than 300 million Americans, Europeans and Russians as well as untold numbers elsewhere,' said Kennedy. "And the survivors, as Chairman Khrushchev warned the Communist Chinese, 'would envy the dead.' "

Kennedy acknowledged that the treaty is not foolproof, because there is no sure way of controlling nuclear blasts deep in outer space, and because the "escape clause" permits signatories to withdraw.

But he said: "While it may be theoretically possible to demonstrate the risks inherent in any treaty, and such risks in this treaty are small, the far greater risk to our security are the risks of unrestricted testing the risks of a nuclear arms race, the risk of new nuclear powers, nuclear pollution, and nuclear war."

The partial ban, he said, is "safer by far for the United States than an unlimited arms race."

Kennedy said the pact had four meanings "to you and your children and your neighbors."

1. It can be a start toward a reduction in world tensions and toward broader areas of East-West agreement.

2. The treaty could help free the world from the fears and dangers of radioactive fallout.

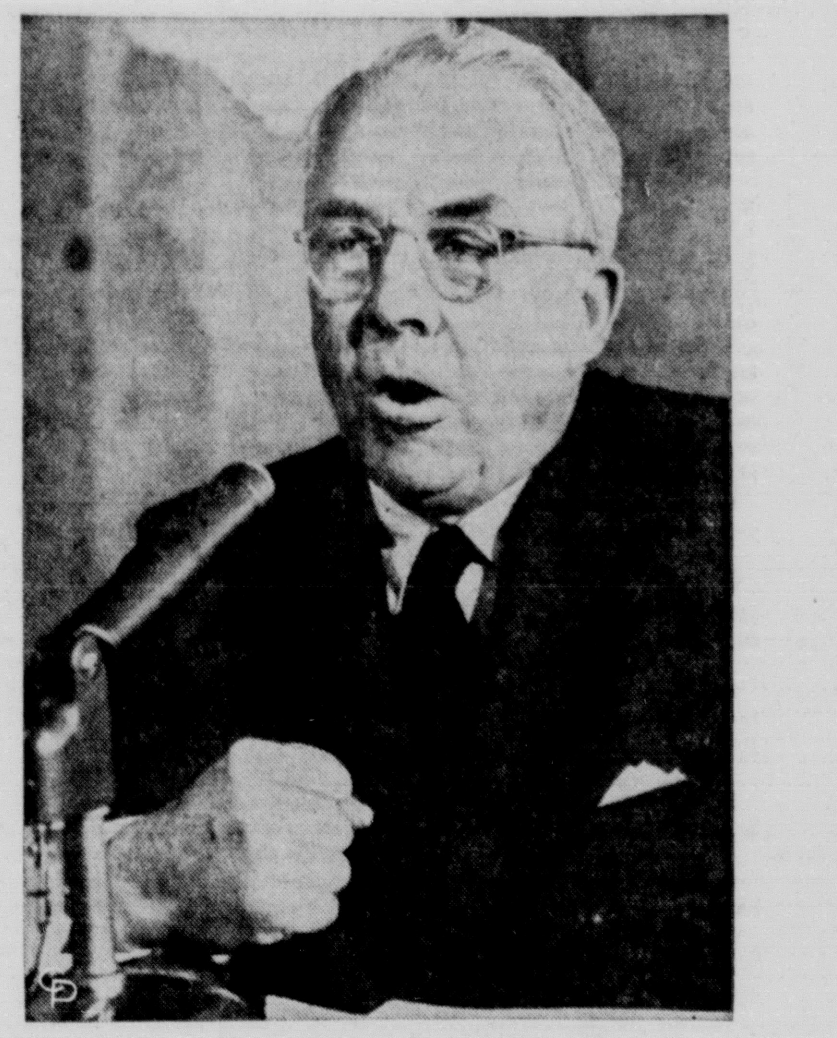
3. It could be a move toward preventing the spread of nuclear weapons to nations other than the four now possessing them: the United States, the Soviet Union, Great Britain and France.

4. It could check the nuclear arms race in a manner which, on balance, would strengthen this country's security far more than a continuation of testing.

Toward the end of his address the President made his appeal for Senate ratification, quoting a Chinese proverb: "a journey of a thousand miles is begun with a single step."

The President said he was "hopeful that this nation will promptly approve" the agreement but he acknowledged "there will, of course, be debate in this country and in the Senate."

But he made a plea that the debate be constructive, for he said a "document which may mark an historic and constructive opportunity for the world deserves an historic and constructive debate."



A FIRM STAND — Mayor Ivan Allen of Atlanta, Ga., tells Senate Commerce committee members that some southern cities which have moved voluntarily to ban discrimination might return to policies of segregation unless Congress acts. He is urging passage of the public accommodations bill.

U.S. Moves on 2 Fronts To Curb Racial Discrimination

WASHINGTON (AP) —While waiting for Congress to act on its far-reaching civil rights program, the Kennedy administration has moved to deal with racial discrimination on two specific fronts.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara announced plans to combat discrimination against Negro servicemen and their families and Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz outlined new standards designed to ensure equal opportunity in worker apprenticeship programs. Both actions came Friday

McNamara said base commanders may declare off limits any area where Negro servicemen and their families are subjected to "relentless discrimination."

The commanders first must get approval of the secretary of the service concerned.

McNamara voiced the hope that such sanctions never will have to be used.

The threat of ruling certain areas off limits to all troops could be a powerful economic weapon against segregation and discrimination in cities and towns that depend heavily on military payrolls.

McNamara made the announcement in reporting to President Kennedy the steps which have been taken on recommendations made by the President's Committee on Equal Opportunity in the Armed Forces.

McNamara also asked the military services to give him a report by Aug. 15 on their plans for combatting discrimination, and he authorized the creation of the post of assistant secretary of defense for civil rights to oversee military anti-discrimination programs.

A Labor Department spokesman said the apprenticeship training standards will affect about 9,000 local programs involving approximately 150,000 apprentices.

Wirtz said federal certification of local apprenticeship programs will be withheld unless the programs meet the standards designed to put them on a "completely non-discriminatory basis."

The regulations bar discrimination in selection of apprentices, in the training program and in the employment to which the program is related.

Wirtz said the new standards were formulated in response to a directive from President Kennedy, who also asked a review of federal construction programs to prevent any racial discrimination. Wirtz said a plan is being worked out to implement that part of the directive.

The Senate Commerce Committee prepared for at least one more full week of hearings on the President's bill to outlaw segregation in hotels, restaurants and other public accommodations.

Akron Beauty Gets Attention

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — An auburn-haired beauty who sang "My Beloved" caught the judges' fancy Friday night and won the first talent contest at the annual Miss Ohio pageant.

Miss Greater Akron, hazel-eyed Margaret (Peggy) Emerson, was judged best among 11 talent contestants as the same number vied for swimsuit honors.

Brown-eyed Betty Jean Smith, who also has auburn hair, won that competition. Runnersup were not announced.

Tonight, the girls switch categories and winners again will be chosen in each. Final judging will follow.

U.S. Aluminum Firms OK New Vacation Plan

NEW YORK (AP)—The major aluminum producers settled with the AFL-CIO Steelworkers Union Friday in an agreement which features 10 weeks vacation every five years.

The agreement is intended to cover more than 50,000 employes in 55 aluminum plants.

Accord was first reached with Aluminum Co. of America, followed by Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Co., Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp., Ormet Corp., and Reynolds Metal Co.

The agreement extends the contract to June 1, 1965. Similar to the steel pact, the aluminum agreement ensure labor peace in the industry during the 1964 presidential year.

No wage increase is provided. But the Steelworkers are hopeful the long vacations will create new jobs in the aluminum industry.

Each year, about 20 per cent of the aluminum employes will get the 10-week vacation.

In addition to the 10 weeks, employes will get three additional weeks' pay in one year out of five. This brings the vacation package to the same level as in steel where extended vacations of 13 weeks are given once every five years.

Aluminum employes average about $3.80 an hour in wages and fringe benefits.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The cold front was accompanied by widespread thundershowers that dropped up to an inch of rain in several areas from northern Colorado to Minnesota.

The temperature dropped considerably in some places as the cooler air moved in. Readings were as much as 20 degrees cooler. At Chadron, Neb., it was 61 compared with a 89 recorded 24 hours earlier.

Clear skies dominated the weather scene this morning over all of Ohio. Overnight low temperatures hovered around the 70-degree mark, with the humidity percentages for the most part in the high 80s and low 90s.

Some patchy ground fog and haze were the only factors to mark an otherwise "weather-free" situation early this morning.

The morning weather map showed a high pressure area centered over western North Carolina while a cold frontal system showed up in the Central Plains States. As it was Friday, warm, moist air was being funneled into the Ohio area from around the high pressure area, making the weather on the humid side once again today.

Soviets Display New Friendship

Some Western Envoys Say Relations Warm

MOSCOW (AP) — Nuclear test ban negotiators W. Averell Harriman of the United States and Lord Hailsham of Britain fly home today amid indications that the Soviets may be becoming more friendly toward the West.

Westerners who have contacts with Soviets say day-to-day relations during the test ban conference became considerably warmer when it was apparent that the Kremlin wanted the negotiations to be successful.

Several Western diplomats said they were invited to the homes of Soviet officials, something that almost never happens.

But some Western diplomats have warned that Premier Khrushchev may be hiding a few tricks, especially in his proposed nonaggression pact.

They argued that Khrushchev could make effective use of the pact if—and when—he decides to give Communist East Germany power over the Western supply routes to West Berlin.

Harriman and Hailsham will report to President Kennedy and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan on what they believe Khrushchev is thinking. They got the final items for their reports at a dinner given for them Friday night by Khrushchev.

Neither Harriman, undersecretary of state for political affairs, nor Hailsham, British minister for science, would reveal what Khrushchev told them.

But the Soviet Premier gave a clue to his thinking in an interview published by the newspapers Izvestia and Pravda.

Khrushchev began by hailing the proposed partial ban on nuclear testing, then said: "It is necessary to settle the question on which liquidation of international tension primarily depends—the question of a German peace settlement." He set no deadlines.

Rhodes Is Invited To Test Popularity

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes and six other prominent Republicans, including Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York, have been invited to enter the West Virginia presidential primary election next year.

State GOP Chairman Howard Corocoran said Friday he has sent telegrams to Rhodes, Rockefeller, Sens. Bary Goldwater of Arizona, Thruston Morton of Kentucky and Gordon Allcott of Colorado, and Govs. George Romney of Michigan and William Scranton of Pennsylvania.

West Virginia's preferential primary, May 12, 1964, is not binding on the state's delegation to the Republican National Convention.

Air Force Author Retires

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Col. Beirne Lay Jr., 53, author of "Twelve O'clock High," "Above and Beyond," and "Strategic Air Command," has retired from the Air Force.

Kennedy Lauds 'First Step' To Avoid War

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has urged all Americans to join in a historic debate over the nuclear test ban agreement which he called "an important first step" away from a war that could take more than 300 million lives in an hour.

Kennedy, speaking Friday night on radio and television to gather support for the treaty, said: "It is my hope that all of you will take part" in the debate "for this treaty is for all of us."

"It is particularly for our children and grandchildren, and they have no lobby here in Washington" said the President.

"This debate will involve military, scientific and political experts, but it must not be left to them alone. The right and the responsibility are yours."

"The historic and constructive debate" for which the President asked will center around the Senate, which must ratify the agreement by a two-thirds vote.

The President did not picture a bright road ahead. He was cautious and grave.

He cautioned that the American, Soviet and British agreement to ban all nuclear tests except under ground is not millenium. It will not, he said, resolve all conflicts, turn the Communists away from their ambitions or eliminate the dangers of war.

But he called it "a shaft of light" cutting into what had been the darkening prospects of mass destruction on earth—"an important first step—a step toward peace—a step toward reason—a step away from war."

And the President warned that a nuclear war "would not be like any war in history."

"A full-scale nuclear exchange, lasting less than 60 minutes, could wipe out more than 300 million Americans, Europeans and Russians as well as untold numbers elsewhere,' said Kennedy. "And the survivors, as Chairman Khrushchev warned the Communist Chinese, 'would envy the dead.' "

Kennedy acknowledged that the treaty is not foolproof, because there is no sure way of controlling nuclear blasts deep in outer space, and because the "escape clause" permits signatories to withdraw.

But he said: "While it may be theoretically possible to demonstrate the risks inherent in any treaty, and such risks in this treaty are small, the far greater risk to our security are the risks of unrestricted testing the risks of a nuclear arms race, the risk of new nuclear powers, nuclear pollution, and nuclear war."

The partial ban, he said, is "safer by far for the United States than an unlimited arms race."

Kennedy said the pact had four meanings "to you and your children and your neighbors."

1. It can be a start toward a reduction in world tensions and toward broader areas of East-West agreement.

2. The treaty could help free the world from the fears and dangers of radioactive fallout.

3. It could be a move toward preventing the spread of nuclear weapons to nations other than the four now possessing them: the United States, the Soviet Union, Great Britain and France.

4. It could check the nuclear arms race in a manner which, on balance, would strengthen this country's security far more than a continuation of testing.

Toward the end of his address the President made his appeal for Senate ratification, quoting a Chinese proverb: "a journey of a thousand miles is begun with a single step."

The President said he was "hopeful that this nation will promptly approve" the agreement but he acknowledged "there will, of course, be debate in this country and in the Senate."

But he made a plea that the debate be constructive, for he said a "document which may mark an historic and constructive opportunity for the world deserves an historic and constructive debate.'

A FIRM STAND — Mayor Ivan Allen of Atlanta, Ga., tells Senate Commerce committee members that some southern cities which have moved voluntarily to ban discrimination might return to policies of segregation unless Congress acts. He is urging passage of the public accommodations bill.

U.S. Moves on 2 Fronts To Curb Racial Discrimination

WASHINGTON (AP) —While waiting for Congress to act on its far-reaching civil rights program, the Kennedy administration has moved to deal with racial discrimination on two specific fronts.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara announced plans to combat discrimination against Negro servicemen and their families and Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz outlined new standards designed to ensure equal opportunity in worker apprenticeship programs. Both actions came Friday

McNamara said base commanders may declare off limits any area where Negro servicemen and their families are subjected to "relentless discrimination."

The commanders first must get approval of the secretary of the service concerned.

McNamara voiced the hope that such sanctions never will have to be used.

The threat of ruling certain areas off limits to all troops could be a powerful economic weapon against segregation and discrimination in cities and towns that depend heavily on military payrolls.

McNamara made the announcement in reporting to President Kennedy the steps which have been taken on recommendations made by the President's Committee on Equal Opportunity in the Armed Forces.

McNamara also asked the military services to give him a report by Aug. 15 on their plans for combatting discrimination, and he authorized the creation of the post of assistant secretary of defense for civil rights to oversee military anti-discrimination programs.

A Labor Department spokesman said the apprenticeship training standards will affect about 9,000 local programs involving approximately 150,000 apprentices.

Wirtz said federal certification of local apprenticeship programs will be withheld unless the programs meet the standards designed to put them on a "completely non-discriminatory basis."

The regulations bar discrimination in selection of apprentices, in the training program and in the employment to which the program is related.

Wirtz said the new standards were formulated in response to a directive from President Kennedy, who also asked a review of federal construction programs to prevent any racial discrimination. Wirtz said a plan is being worked out to implement that part of the directive.

The Senate Commerce Committee prepared for at least one more full week of hearings on the President's bill to outlaw segregation in hotels, restaurants and other public accommodations.

Akron Beauty Gets Attention

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — An auburn-haired beauty who sang "My Beloved" caught the judges' fancy Friday night and won the first talent contest at the annual Miss Ohio pageant.

Miss Greater Akron, hazel-eyed Margaret (Peggy) Emerson, was judged best among 11 talent contestants as the same number vied for swimsuit honors.

Brown-eyed Betty Jean Smith, who also has auburn hair, won that competition. Runnersup were not announced.

Tonight, the girls switch categories and winners again will be chosen in each. Final judging will follow.

U.S. Aluminum Firms OK New Vacation Plan

NEW YORK (AP)—The major aluminum producers settled with the AFL-CIO Steelworkers Union Friday in an agreement which features 10 weeks vacation every five years.

The agreement is intended to cover more than 50,000 employes in 55 aluminum plants.

Accord was first reached with Aluminum Co. of America, followed by Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Co., Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp., Ormet Corp., and Reynolds Metal Co.

The agreement extends the contract to June 1, 1965. Similar to the steel pact, the aluminum agreement ensure labor peace in the industry during the 1964 presidential year.

No wage increase is provided. But the Steelworkers are hopeful the long vacations will create new jobs in the aluminum industry.

Each year, about 20 per cent of the aluminum employes will get the 10-week vacation.

In addition to the 10 weeks, employes will get three additional weeks' pay in one year out of five. This brings the vacation package to the same level as in steel where extended vacations of 13 weeks are given once every five years.

Aluminum employes average about $3.80 an hour in wages and fringe benefits.

He displayed a pile of clothing and equipment and said it was America and was taken off South Korean spies caught in North Korea.

Little Town in South Dakota Gets Own Bethlehem Shrine

Since 1956, Benedictine fathers and monks of Conception Abbey of Conception, Mo., have been building living quarters, repairing washed out roads and constructing a shrine at Crystal Cave.

The 180 acres of land and the cave were a gift to the monks from Louis Storm.

Father Gilbert Stack is the founder of Bethlehem, S.D.

The Shrine of the Nativity, a replica of one in the Holy Land, was built inside Crystal Cave.

"Christ was born in a stable in a cave and the Church first took hold in the Rome Catacombs during 300 years of persecution," Father Gilbert explains.

"St. Benedict, patron saint of cave explorers, lived in a cave for three years before he founded the famous order of Monte Cassino Abbey," he adds.

Two priests are permanently in residence at the shrine. They are assisted by laymen who are oblates of Conception Abbey.

During the busy summer tourist season, Father Gilbert says, additional monks are supplied and numerous laymen from the United States and Canada donate their time.

The shrine, built near the entrance, is deep enough to provide an atmosphere of warmth and serenity.

Services are held at the shrine twice each morning during the summer and on special religious days throughout the year. Special Easter and Christmas services are attended by residents through out the Black Hills and surrounding states.

The monks must maintain their independence by some means of selfsupport. Father Gilbert chose to be a printer. Since he has been at Bethlehem he has printed cards for Christmas and birthdays and offers some of them for sale to visitors.

During the yuletide season, he gets thousands of orders for Christmas cards requesting they be postmarked from Bethlehem.

Ohio's New Laws Cost $3800 Each

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohioans got 366 new laws at the austerity rate during the recent session of the 105th General Assembly.

In line with the trend of governmental expense cutting the legislature turned out statues for about $3800 apiece.

The cost was estimated on the basis of operating expenditures during the legislative session between Jan. 7 and July 11.

The House and Senate spent approximately $1.4 million during the session, although not all of the bills have been received.

Most of the money went for personal service but the cost of legislative printing may reach $250,000.

Lawmakers introduced 1,534 bills during the session and enacted 369. Gov. James A. Rhodes vetoed three, leaving a net of 366.

Senators and representatives draw $5,000 annually. During a session, they receive $600 a month. The rest is pro-rated for the balance of the year.

Annual salaries of the Senate president protem and the House speaker at $7,500. The Senate minority leader and the House majority and minority floor leaders get $6,250 each.

The last session convened with 137 representatives and 33 senators.

Each lawmaker is allowed 10 cents a mile for the trip between home and Columbus each week, regardless of whether he makes the jaunt. Some turn down the mileage allowance.

Senators received more than $20,000 for travel during the session and representatives about $74,500.

Expense of maintaining the legislative halls and offices goes on between sessions. The last two-year appropriation was $2.9 million.

Expenditures during one of the longest legislative session from Jan. 5 to Aug. 14, 1959, exceeded $1.6 million and the average cost for 393 new laws ran slightly more than $4,000 each.

Offers to redecorate and refurnish Gov. James A. Rhodes state house office were turned down while he was attending the Governors' Conference in Miami Beach, Fla.

A paint company and a furniture dealer wanted to floss things up for the governor but aides said he might be displeased by such gratuities.

The office has become a symbol of the Republican administration's austerity program because of its bare marble floor, reconditioned desk and salvaged window drapes.

The rug, drapes and desk were the personal belongings of Rhodes' predecessor, and went with him upon leaving office.

Except for moving in a few more chairs, Rhodes has left things as he found them, including portraits of former Democratic governors hanging on all four walls.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Saturday, July 27, the 208th day of 1963. There are 157 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1909, Orville Wright established a world record for airplanes when he and a passenger remained aloft for 1 hour, 1 minute and 40 seconds.

On this date:

In 1661, the site of Schenectday, N.Y., was purchased from the Indians.

In 1789, the Department of Foreign Affairs—now the U.S. State Department—was created.

In 1868, Alaska was organized as a territory.

In 1922, the United States formally recognized the governments of Albania, Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia.

In 1955, Austria formally regained its sovereignty and the Allied Council for Austria ended its 10-year rule.

Ten years ago: More than 120,000 Germans from the Soviet zone received free food in West Berlin.

Five years ago: The leader of the famed Flying Tigers, Gen. Claire Chenault, died of lung cancer at the age of 67.

One year ago: Tension eased in Algeria as the provisional government began negotiations with dissident factions.

Reptiles Safe In Kansas

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Just to keep the record straight: it's against the law to eat snakes, lizards, scorpions, centipedes, tarantulas or other reptiles in public in Kansas.

In fact, a law forbids you to even pretend to eat such items publicly.

Another old law requires every theater, public hall or building in the state to provide sufficient spittoons or cuspidors. The same applies to railway cars.

And in Topeka, a city ordinance prohibits citizens from running an opium den — or frequenting one.

Lucas County Solves Problem of Keeping Fair Ground Busy

TOLEDO, Ohio, (AP)—A problem Ohio State Fair officials have been struggling with for years appeared to be solved—on a county level—by Lucas County commissioners. How to use a fairgrounds year-round?

Monday, officials will dedicate the new $350,000 Lucas County Recreation Center, near Lucas County Fairgrounds, at suburban Maumee.

Work started three months ago to turn the 124-acre, weed-covered, archaic - looking grounds, which normally is used five days out of the year, into a year-round plant that would be an asset to the community.

Since then a 75-acre area has been graded, sodded and seeded; horse barns and wagering machines have been razed; new access roads have been built and parking facilities have been doubled.

A softball complex of four lighted diamonds with grass infields have been built. In the center of these is a hub building which includes restrooms, concession stands and seating facilities for 3,000 spectators.

An asphalt quarter midget race track has been built with banked turns. There is a lighted football practice field. The old horse racing clubhouse has been renovated, making it a hall for civic meetings, dances and other indoor activities.

Perhaps the biggest and probable the facility that will get the most use is an 11,000-seat lighted baseball and football stadium. It formerly was the race track stands.

Already the Toledo entry in the United Football League has contracted to play its home games there and high school games also are planed.

Yet to come are a swimming pool, tennis courts, quarter mile running track and picnic areas.

The entire project is a new concept according to Ned Skeldon, president of the Lucas County Commissioners.

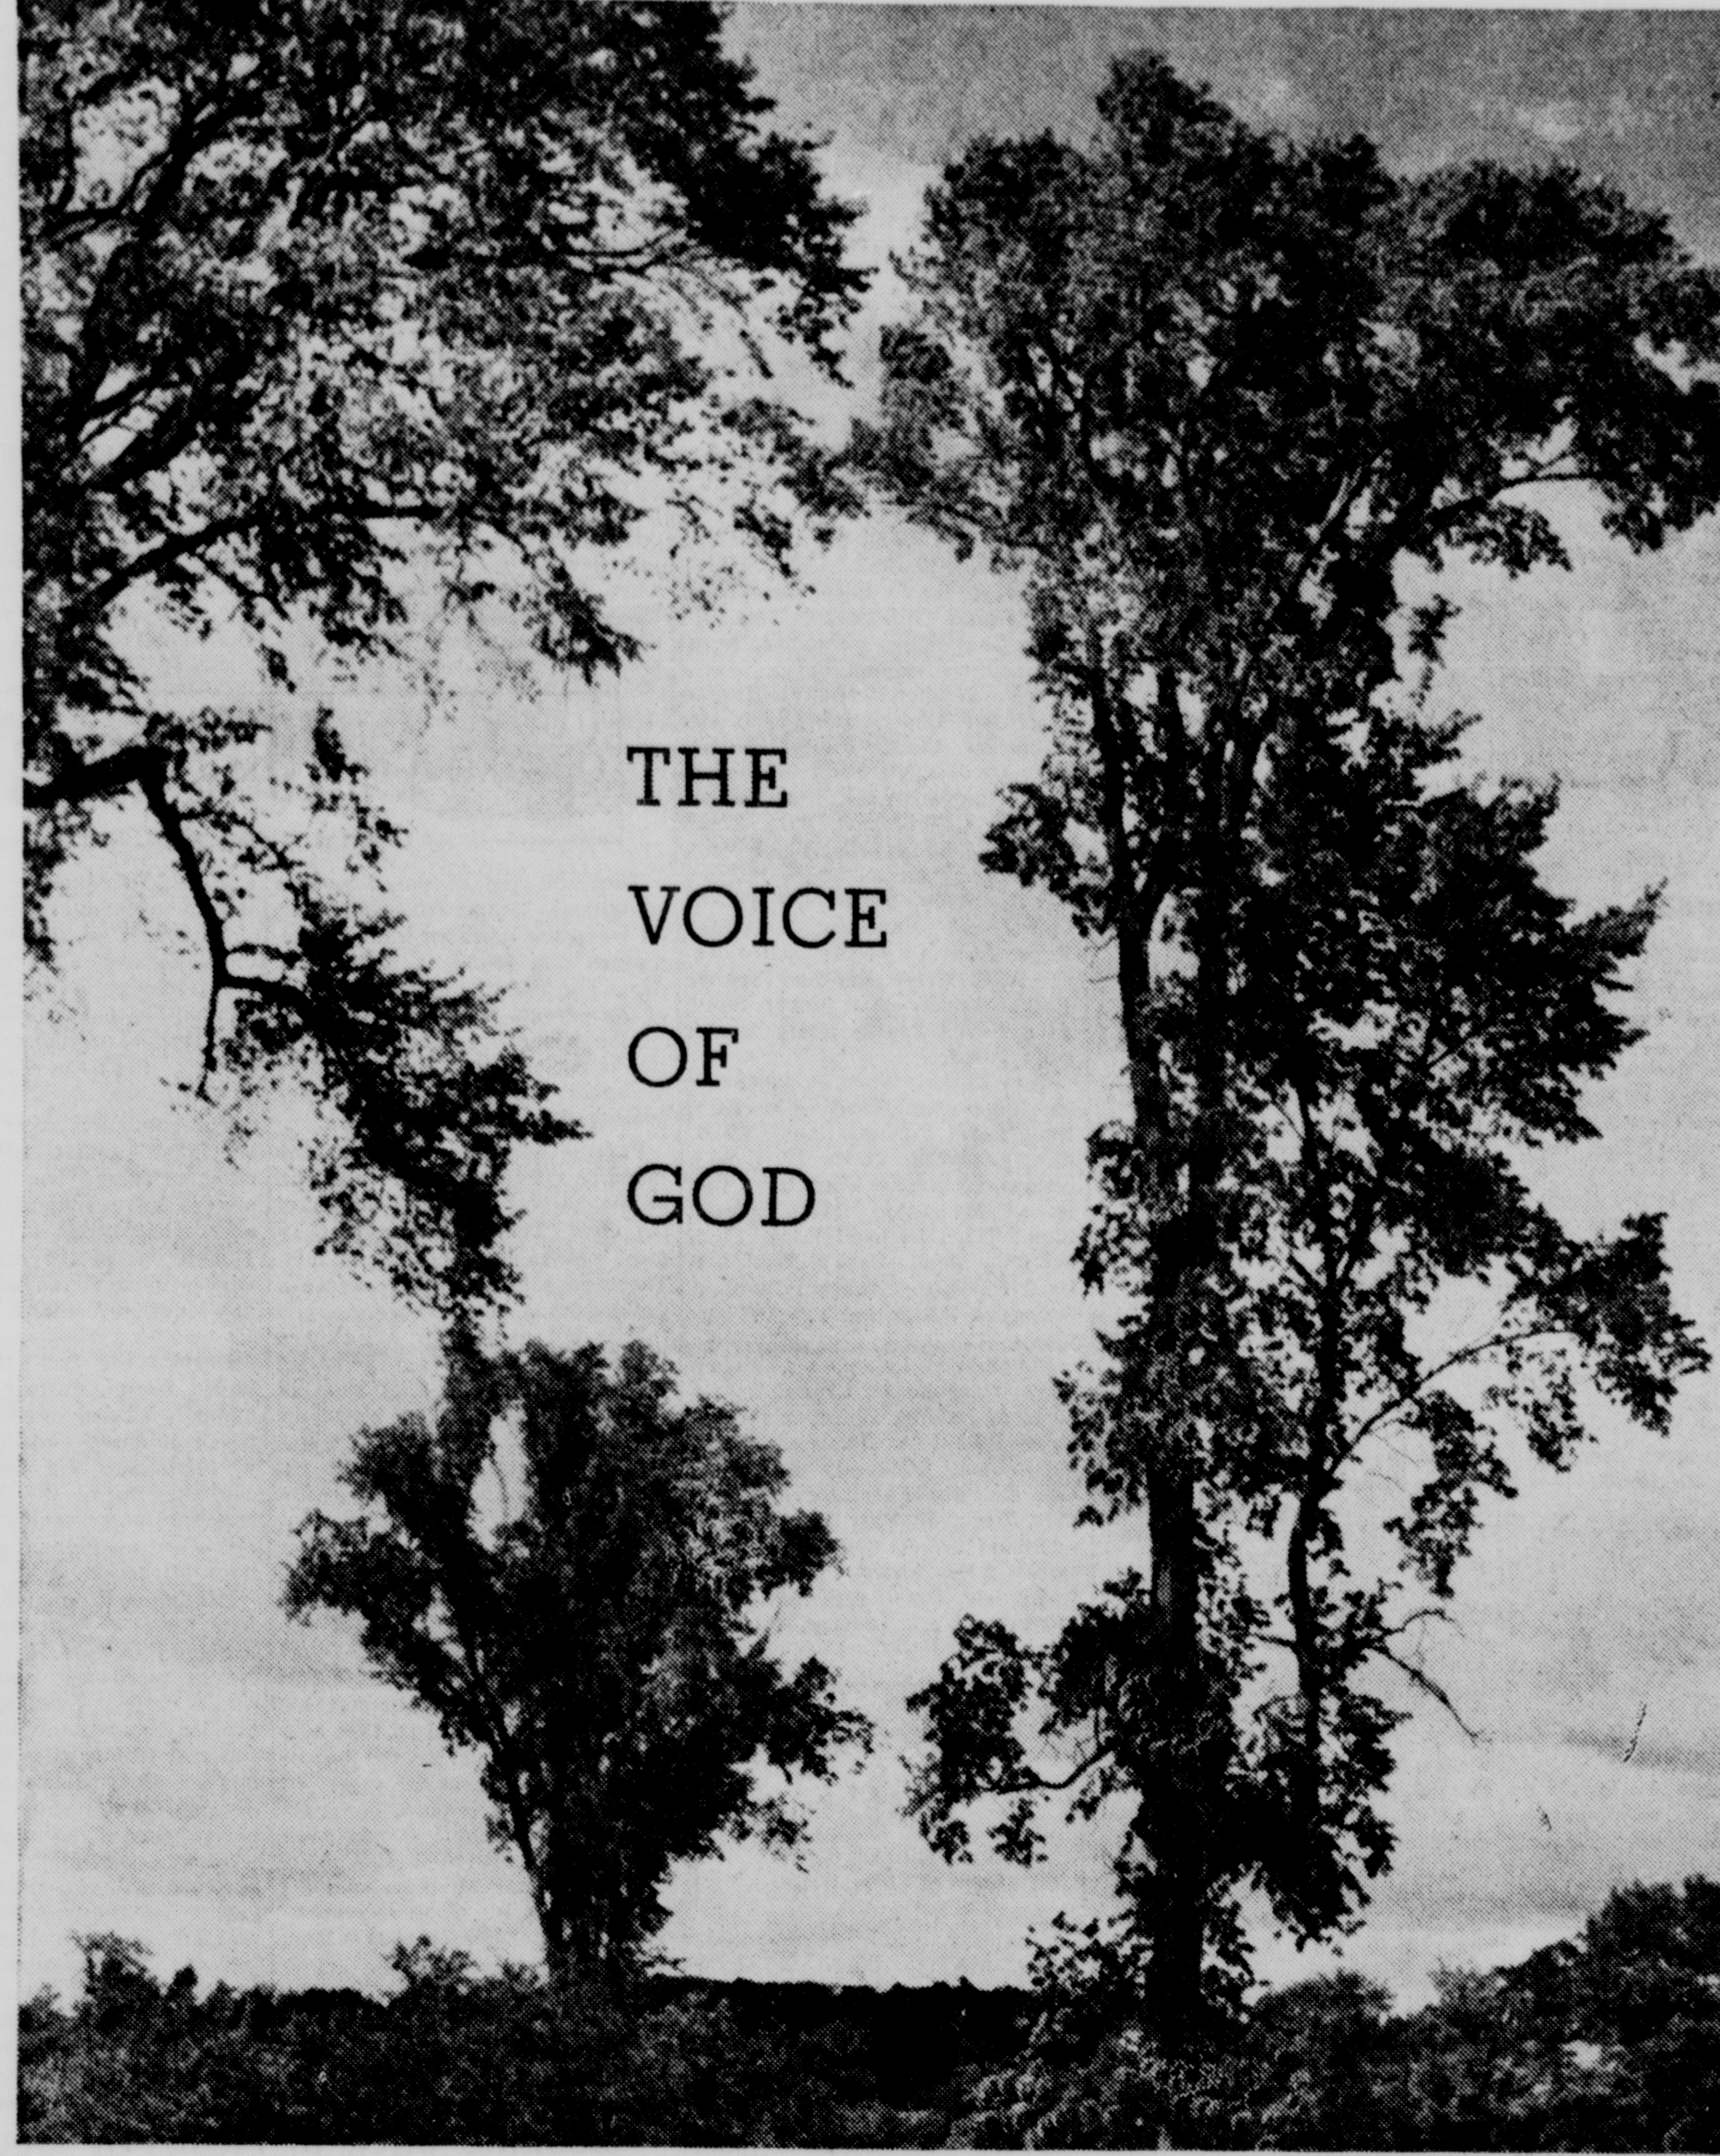
"When I and the other commissioners undertook this project, there was no format to follow," Skeldon explained. "This type of thing has just never before been attempted."

The $350,000 came from the county's general fund and a $190,000 bond issue. Once things got rolling at the center Skeldon believes the county will be repaid and the venture will be self-sustaining.

Law forbids a county government from entering into any forms of profit-making business. To solve this problem an organization—Lucas County Recreation, Inc.—has been formed, incorporated as a non-profit organization and given the right to operate all money-making segments of the facility.

Norway produces and uses more hydroelectric power per capita than any other nation. Canada ranks second.

Carbon - 14 dating indicates accupancy 12,000 years ago at Hermit Cave in Last Chance Canyon, Texas.



Do you ever pause to listen to the voice of God? We hear it every day, wherever we may be.

In the whispering of tall trees . . . the music of rushing brooks . . . the songs of the birds . . . the gay laughter of happy children . . . we hear the voice of the Great Creator. Through his infinite grace a bird is enabled to serenade his mate, a tiny cricket chirps its faint refrain.

God is the Bringer of all blessings to man and beast alike.

Let us give thanks to Him who has so enriched our lives. Open church doors beckon all over our land. Let us seek the House of the Lord, and enter in to pay Him homage. Here through prayer and humility, let us rededicate ourselves to His service and glorification.

Little Town in South Dakota Gets Own Bethlehem Shrine

Since 1956, Benedictine fathers and monks of Conception Abbey of Conception, Mo., have been building living quarters, repairing washed out roads and constructing a shrine at Crystal Cave.

The 180 acres of land and the cave were a gift to the monks from Louis Storm.

Father Gilbert Stack is the founder of Bethlehem, S.D.

"Christ was born in a stable in a cave and the Church first took hold in the Rome Catacombs during 300 years of persecution," Father Gilbert explains.

"St. Benedict, patron saint of cave explorers, lived in a cave for three years before he founded the famous order of Monte Cassino Abbey," he adds.

Two priests are permanently in residence at the shrine. They are assisted by laymen who are oblates of Conception Abbey.

During the busy summer tourist season, Father Gilbert says, additional monks are supplied and numerous laymen from the United States and Canada donate their time.

The shrine, built near the entrance, is deep enough to provide an atmosphere of warmth and serenity.

Services are held at the shrine twice each morning during the summer and on special religious days throughout the year. Special Easter and Christmas services are attended by residents through out the Black Hills and surrounding states.

The monks must maintain their independence by some means of selfsupport. Father Gilbert chose to be a printer. Since he has been at Bethlehem he has printed cards for Christmas and birthdays and offers some of them for sale to visitors.

During the yuletide season, he gets thousands of orders for Christmas cards requesting they be postmarked from Bethlehem.

Ohio's New Laws Cost $3800 Each

In line with the trend of governmental expense cutting the legislature turned out statues for about $3800 apiece.

The cost was estimated on the basis of operating expenditures during the legislative session between Jan. 7 and July 11.

The House and Senate spent approximately $1.4 million during the session, although not all of the bills have been received.

Most of the money went for personal service but the cost of legislative printing may reach $250,000.

Lawmakers introduced 1,334 bills during the session and enacted 369. Gov. James A. Rhodes vetoed three, leaving a net of 366.

Senators and representatives draw $5,000 annually. During a session, they receive $600 a month. The rest is pro-rated for the balance of the year.

Annual salaries of the Senate president protem and the House speaker at $7,500. The Senate minority leader and the House majority and minority floor leaders get $6,250 each.

The last session convened with 137 representatives and 33 senators.

Each lawmaker is allowed 10 cents a mile for the trip between home and Columbus each week, regardless of whether he makes the jaunt. Some turn down the mileage allowance.

Senators received more than $20,000 for travel during the session and representatives about $74,500.

Expense of maintaining the legislative halls and offices goes on between sessions. The last two-year appropriation was $2.9 million.

Expenditures during one of the longest legislative session from Jan. 5 to Aug. 14, 1959, exceeded $1.6 million and the average cost for 393 new laws ran slightly more than $4,000 each.

Offers to redecorate and refurnish Gov. James A. Rhodes state house office were turned down while he was attending the Governors' Conference in Miami Beach, Fla.

A paint company and a furniture dealer wanted to floss things up for the governor but aides said he might be displeased by such gratuities.

The office has become a symbol of the Republican administration's austerity program because of its bare marble floor, reconditioned desk and salvaged window drapes.

The rug, drapes and desk were the personal belongings of Rhodes' predecessor, and went with him upon leaving office.

Except for moving in a few more chairs, Rhodes has left things as he found them, including portraits of former Democratic governors hanging on all four walls.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Saturday, July 27, the 208th day of 1963. There are 157 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1909, Orville Wright established a world record for airplanes when he and a passenger remained aloft for 1 hour, 1 minute and 40 seconds.

On this date:

In 1789, the Department of Foreign Affairs—now the U.S. State Department—was created.

In 1868, Alaska was organized as a territory.

In 1922, the United States formally recognized the governments of Albania, Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia.

In 1955, Austria formally regained its sovereignty and the Allied Council for Austria ended its 10-year rule.

Ten years ago: More than 120-000 Germans from the Soviet zone received free food in West Berlin.

Five years ago: The leader of the famed Flying Tigers, Gen. Claire Chenault, died of lung cancer at the age of 67.

One year ago: Tension eased in Algeria as the provisional government began negotiations with dissident factions.

Reptiles Safe In Kansas

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Just to keep the record straight: it's against the law to eat snakes, lizards, scorpions, centipedes, tarantulas or other reptiles in public in Kansas.

In fact, a law forbids you to even pretend to eat such items publicly.

Another old law requires every theater, public hall or building in the state to provide sufficient spittoons or cuspidors. The same applies to railway cars.

And in Topeka, a city ordinance prohibits citizens from running an opium den — or frequenting one.

Lucas County Solves Problem of Keeping Fair Ground Busy

TOLEDO, Ohio, (AP)—A problem Ohio State Fair officials have been struggling with for years appeared to be solved—on a county level—by Lucas County commissioners. How to use a fairgrounds year-round?

Work started three months ago to turn the 124-acre, weed-covered, archaic - looking grounds, which normally is used five days out of the year, into a year-round plant that would be an asset to the community.

Since then a 75-acre area has been graded, sodded and seeded; horse barns and wagering machines have been razed; new access roads have been built and parking facilities have been doubled.

A softball complex of four lighted diamonds with grass infields have been built. In the center of these is a hub building which includes restrooms, concession stands and seating facilities for 3,000 spectators.

An asphalt quarter midget race track has been built with banked turns. There is a lighted football practice field. The old horse racing clubhouse has been renovated, making it a hall for civic meetings, dances and other indoor activities.

Perhaps the biggest and probable the facility that will get the most use is an 11,000-seat lighted baseball and football stadium. It formerly was the race track stands.

Already the Toledo entry in the United Football League has contracted to play its home games there and high school games also are planed.

Yet to come are a swimming pool, tennis courts, quarter mile running track and picnic areas.

The entire project is a new concept according to Ned Skeldon, president of the Lucas County Commissioners.

"When I and the other commissioners undertook this project, there was no format to follow," Skeldon explained. "This type of thing has just never before been attempted."

The $350,000 came from the county's general fund and a $190,-000 bond issue. Once things got rolling at the center Skeldon believes the county will be repaid and the venture will be self-sustaining.

Law forbids a county government from entering into any forms of profit-making business. To solve this problem an organization—Lucas County Recreation, Inc.—has been formed, incorporated as a non-profit organization and given the right to operate all money-making segments of the facility.

Norway produces and uses more hydroelectric power per capita than any other nation. Canada ranks second.

Do you ever pause to listen to the voice of God? We hear it every day, wherever we may be.

In the whispering of tall trees . . . the music of rushing brooks . . . the songs of the birds . . . the gay laughter of happy children . . . we hear the voice of the Great Creator. Through his infinite grace a bird is enabled to serenade his mate, a tiny cricket chirps its faint refrain. God is the Bringer of all blessings to man and beast alike.

Let us give thanks to Him who has so enriched our lives. Open church doors beckon all over our land. Let us seek the House of the Lord, and enter in to pay Him homage. Here through prayer and humility, let us rededicate ourselves to His service and glorification.

Pentagon Reports Draftees 'Smart'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Draftees today are brighter boys than those inducted during World War II and Korea, the Pentagon's personel experts believe.

Mental standards for inductees were raised last May 1. But the trend toward more selectivity in Selective Service had been under way for several years. Soldiers have to be mentally sharper because the equipment they handle now is more complex.

Since Korea, only the Army has used the draft. Asked how present draftees stack up against those of the past two wars, the Army said:

"On the average, the quality of draftees today is better than World War II and Korea because the mental standards for induction are higher. Therefore, fewer lower mental category personel can qualify for service. On the other hand, fewer high mental category personel are being inducted today because of a smaller draft than in World War II and Korea."

Physical standards have not changed.

The rejection rate on the basis of mental tests (which really mean how much native intelligence and ability to learn a man has) is higher now, partly because the military can be more selective in peacetime than in war. Moreover, deferments for those who qualify can be and are higher in peacetime.

Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service, estimates, for example, that about 30,000 are deferred now so they can go to college. But, in testifying before the House Armed Services Committee recently, Hershey hastened to say that "I don't want to claim that we are keeping these boys in college, because we couldn't induct them in any great numbers if they didn't go to college."

Hershey's view seems substantiated by draft quota figures. Only 4,000 draftees were asked by the Army for each of the months of January and February, while the high point so far this year is the 12,000 monthly quota set for August and September. Army strength now totals about 970,000.

The draft law was extended for another four years by the present Congress. How long will a draft system be needed?

"It is our judgment," say the military manpower experts, "that the Selective Service System and the authority to induct will be required so long as the international situation remains substantially unchanged."

There was a 15-month period in 1947-48 when the draft law lapsed, after the end of World War II and before the Communist threat began looming large. But since September 1950, a total of 2,845,450 will have been drafted when the September quota is filled.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

The first joy of parenthood is sometimes temporarily interrupted when the newborn infant is examined and found to have jaundice. The under-standable concern of the parents is quickly alleviated by the assurance that the condition is not an unusual one. In most instances, it is neither serious nor prolonged.

Parents seem to fear that the jaundice condition will persist and permanently impair the health of the child. This is a fear that almost always has no basis in fact. These parents need and deserve a great deal of reassurance.

It is not unusul for a newborn to develop a temporary yellowish tinge to the skin. This type of jaundice is caused by a transitory accumulation of pigment which begins to right itself quickly after a few days and disappears completely within a few weeks.

There are, however, other types of jaundice in the new born, much less frequently seen, that are caused by an incompatibility of the blood groups of the parents. Fortunately, these incompatibilities are generally determined long before the child is born so that adequate preparations for the baby's health are made in advance.

When the baby is born, the progress of the jaundice is carefully checked by repeated studies of the blood. Even in those more complex cases caused by blood incompatibility, the jaundice reaches a peak and then usually subsides.

If the condition does become more severe, it sometimes becomes necessary to give the baby a transfusion by a specialized method. This safe technique is called an 'exchange transfusion".

A portion of the infant's blood is withdrawn and simultaneously replaced with a similar ntity of compatible blood. The success of this type of exchange transfusion, even for RH babies, has been very dramatic.

The combined skills of the blood specialist (hemotologist) and the other attending doctors and technicians have reduced the risk of such transfusions to a minimum. This is one of the many new advances in medicine with which today's newborn infants are blessed.

Despite the fact that parents have been warned repeatedly against leaving medicines within reach of small children, accidental poisonings still occur. Aspirin continues to be the Number One offender for poisoning of children, but other medicines seem to have their attraction, too.

It is understandable that if medicine tastes like candy, children are going to want lots of it. And of course there are some children whose curiosity will lead them to explore almost any medicine.

Dr. F. L. Margolis and Dr .J. A. Dugger of Michigan have pointed out the effectiveness of syrup ipecac when given immediately for accidental poisonings. In their experience with poisoning in children ipecac has almost replaced the unpleasant stomach pump.

Keep a small supply of ipecac handy for emergencies, but you will not need it if you remember to keep all medicines out of the reach of children.

The Company One Keeps

By John Chamberlain

It is no secret that this columnist is anti-Left, even though he insists that he is more of an old-fashioned liberal or libertarian than he is a conservative. Yet he confesses to one heresy that puts him into strange Leftist company: he is for a nuclear test ban.

The reason has to do with my long-standing objection to living in a fouled - up environment. I don't personally happen to believe that wars result from arms races: indeed, the chances for modern all-out war seem to me to be less likely if the important nations have so much "overkill" in storage that no one of them will dare risk firing a first shot. The "balance of terror" does not terrify me. We must keep the "balance" up, for it might be fatal to U.S. safety if the Pentagon ceased to experiment with new and promising methods of being "on target" with whatever nuclear weapons we now have.

The need for maintaining a "balance" in terror, however, is beside the point when it comes to talking about the desirability of a test ban treaty. Taking the word of the authorities that we have enough atomic explosives to obliterate the Soviet Union several times over, what is the sense of adding to the poison content of the atmosphere in order to improve the effectiveness of nuclear warheads by a little bit? You don't need two triphammers to squash a beetle.

I don't like to support any additions to the fall-out menace in the world's atmospheric envelope for the simple reason that my religious sense tells me that life is sacred. The right to life underlies all the other rights. The reason I am a conservative — or an old-fashioned liberal — in insisting on such things as the rights to liberty and property is that these rights, if observed, give me the power to sustain my own life. Without liberty and property, I would have to ask the State to feed me and my family, which would mean that I would be living, not by right, but by sufferance.

My feeling that life is sacred is one thing that I share with Dr. Albert Schweitzer the "liberal" tropical medical missionary who makes a practical religion out of his "reverence for life." I go along with Dr. Schweitzer in thinking the human race is entirely too trigger-happy when it comes to dealing with animal and plant life. And if I am to deny to my children the right to burn some unoffending hornets out of their laboriously made home in a front-yard tree, feel that it is infinitely more necessary to support any reasonable nuclear test ban. True, I have heard it said that the amount of atomic testing that the U. S. and Soviet Russia have already done does not menace the human race genetically.

But when I go to my dentist for X-rays of my teeth, I notice that he is careful to bring out a lead-lined apron, which he drapes over me from the neck down before he points the X-ray machine at my mouth. The dentist, a scientifically-minded fellow, has made a study of radium and X-ray poisoning, and is not at all sure that we know just where the danger threshold stands.

Well, as a cautious person, I am willing to let the dentist clothe me in a lead-lined apron. And the caution carries over into my feeling that a nuclear test ban is desirable, provided that Khrushchev doesn't try to tie any non-aggression treaty to it that would deny the hopes for regaining their rights to liberty and property to Poles, Hungarians, and East Germans.

This stand, I note, puts me in a list of Americans that includes Walter Reuther, David Riesman, Malcolm Cowley and other people with whom I have profound disagreements on most other subjects. Well, I am used to being shot at from both sides. My daughter Liz, observing my solicitude for snakes, wasps and hornets, insists that if a lion were to sidle up to her, I'd say, "Nice Liz, nice lion." This doesn't happen to be true, but it makes the point: "reverence for life" can make for some strange bedfellows.

It doesn't mean that I think the Messrs. Reuther, Riesman and Cowley know anything about protecting those other rights, to liberty and property. We aren't fellow travelers on everything, I can assure you. But on the test ban I am willing to make temporary common cause with the "Left".

Pentagon Reports Draftees 'Smart'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Draftees today are brighter boys than those inducted during World War II and Korea, the Pentagon's personel experts believe.

Mental standards for inductees were raised last May 1. But the trend toward more selectivity in Selective Service had been under way for several years. Soldiers have to be mentally sharper because the equipment they handle now is more complex.

Since Korea, only the Army has used the draft. Asked how present draftees stack up against those of the past two wars, the Army said:

"On the average, the quality of draftees today is better than World War II and Korea because the mental standards for induction are higher. Therefore, fewer lower mental category personel can qualify for service. On the other hand, fewer high mental category personel are being inducted today because of a smaller draft than in World War II and Korea."

Physical standards have not changed.

The rejection rate on the basis of mental tests (which really mean how much native intelligence and ability to learn a man has) is higher now, partly because the military can be more selective in peacetime than in war. Moreover, deferments for those who qualify can be and are higher in peacetime.

Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service, estimates, for example, that about 30,000 are deferred now so they can go to college. But, in testifying before the House Armed Services Committee recently, Hershey hastened to say that "I don't want to claim that we are keeping these boys in college, because we couldn't induct them in any great numbers if they didn't go to college."

Hershey's view seems substantiated by draft quota figures. Only 4,000 draftees were asked by the Army for each of the months of January and February, while the high point so far this year is the 12,000 monthly quota set for August and September. Army strength now totals about 970,000.

The draft law was extended for another four years by the present Congress. How long will a draft system be needed?

"It is our judgment," say the military manpower experts, "that the Selective Service System and the authority to induct will be required so long as the international situation remains substantially unchanged."

There was a 15-month period in 1947-48 when the draft law lapsed, after the end of World War II and before the Communist threat began looming large. But since September 1950, a total of 2,845,450 will have been drafted when the September quota is filled.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

The first joy of parenthood is sometimes temporarily interrupted when the newborn infant is examined and found to have jaundice. The under-standable concern of the parents is quickly alleviated by the assurance that the condition is not an unusual one. In most instances, it is neither serious nor prolonged.

Parents seem to fear that the jaundice condition will persist and permanently impair the health of the child. This is a fear that almost always has no basis in fact. These parents need and deserve a great deal of reassurance.

It is not unusul for a newborn to develop a temporary yellowish tinge to the skin. This type of jaundice is caused by a transitory accumulation of pigment which begins to right itself quickly after a few days and disappears completely within a few weeks.

There are, however, other types of jaundice in the new born, much less frequently seen, that are caused by an incompatibility of the blood groups of the parents. Fortunately, these incompatibilities are generally determined long before the child is born so that adequate preparations for the baby's health are made in advance.

When the baby is born, the progress of the jaundice is carefully checked by repeated studies of the blood. Even in those more complex cases caused by blood incompatibility, the jaundice reaches a peak and then usually subsides.

If the condition does become more severe, it sometimes becomes necessary to give the baby a transfusion by a specialized method. This safe technique is called an 'exchange transfusion".

A portion of the infant's blood is withdrawn and simultaneously replaced with a similar ntity of compatible blood. The success of this type of exchange transfusion, even for RH babies, has been very dramatic.

The combined skills of the blood specialist (hemotologist) and the other attending doctors and technicians have reduced the risk of such transfusions to a minimum. This is one of the many new advances in medicine with which today's newborn infants are blessed.

Despite the fact that parents have been warned repeatedly against leaving medicines within reach of small children, accidental poisonings still occur. Aspirin continues to be the Number One offender for poisoning of children, but other medicines seem to have their attraction, too.

It is understandable that if medicine tastes like candy, children are going to want lots of it. And of course there are some children whose curiosity will lead them to explore almost any medicine.

Dr. F. L. Margolis and Dr. J. A. Dugger of Michigan have pointed out the effectiveness of syrup ipecac when given immediately for accidental poisonings. In their experience with poisoning in children ipecac has almost replaced the unpleasant stomach pump.

Keep a small supply of ipecac handy for emergencies, but you will not need it if you remember to keep all medicines out of the reach of children.

It is no secret that this columnist is anti-Left, even though he insists that he is more of an old-fashioned liberal or libertarian than he is a conservative. Yet he confesses to one heresy that puts him into strange Leftist company: he is for a nuclear test ban.

We must keep the "balance" up, for it might be fatal to U.S. safety if the Pentagon ceased to experiment with new and promising methods of being "on target" with whatever nuclear weapons we now have.

The need for maintaining a "balance" in terror, however, is beside the point when it comes to talking about the desirability of a test ban treaty. Taking the word of the authorities that we have enough atomic explosives to obliterate the Soviet Union several times over, what is the sense of adding to the poison content of the atmosphere in order to improve the effectiveness of nuclear warheads by a little bit? You don't need two triphammers to squash a beetle.

I don't like to support any additions to the fall-out menace in the world's atmospheric envelope for the simple reason that my religious sense tells me that life is sacred. The right to life underlies all the other rights. The reason I am a conservative — or an old-fashioned liberal — in insisting on such things as the rights to liberty and property is that these rights, if observed, give me the power to sustain my own life. Without liberty and property, I would have to ask the State to feed me and my family, which would mean that I would be living, not by right, but by sufferance.

My feeling that life is sacred is one thing that I share with Dr. Albert Schweitzer the "liberal" tropical medical missionary who makes a practical religion out of his "reverence for life." I go along with Dr. Schweitzer in thinking the human race is entirely too trigger-happy when it comes to dealing with animal and plant life. And if I am to deny to my children the right to burn some unoffending hornets out of their laboriously made home in a front-yard tree, feel that it is infinitely more necessary to support any reasonable nuclear test ban. True, I have heard it said that the amount of atomic testing that the U. S. and Soviet Russia have already done does not menace the human race genetically.

But when I go to my dentist for X-rays of my teeth, I notice that he is careful to bring out a lead-lined apron, which he drapes over me from the neck down before he points the X-ray machine at my mouth. The dentist, a scientifically-minded fellow, has made a study of radium and X-ray poisoning, and is not at all sure that we know just where the danger threshold stands.

Well, as a cautious person, I am willing to let the dentist clothe me in a lead-lined apron. And the caution carries over into my feeling that a nuclear test ban is desirable, provided that Khrushchev doesn't try to tie any non-aggression treaty to it that would deny the hopes for regaining their rights to liberty and property to Poles, Hungarians, and East Germans.

This stand, I note, puts me in a list of Americans that includes Walter Reuther, David Riesman, Malcolm Cowley and other people with whom I have profound disagreements on most other subjects. Well, I am used to being shot at from both sides. My daughter Liz, observing my solicitude for snakes, wasps and hornets, insists that if a lion were to sidle up to her, I'd say, "Nice Liz, nice lion." This doesn't happen to be true, but it makes the point: "reverence for life" can make for some strange bedfellows.

It doesn't mean that I think the Messrs. Reuther, Riesman and Cowley know anything about protecting those other rights, to liberty and property. We aren't fellow travelers on everything, I can assure you. But on the test ban I am willing to make temporary common cause with the "Left".

Use Child-Size Flatware, China For Youngsters

Setting the table for a child who is something of a problem-eater is quite a task. And even for the youngster who isn't a problem-eater, grappling with adult-size tableware is a pretty difficult job

Anyway, modern, child-size flatware and china that is pretty as well as light and easy to handle is bound to make mealtimes more pleasant for any child and that means more pleasant for Mother, too.

Incidentally, table manners will be more easily learned with flatware that's geared to the child's own grip.

Some manufacturers make children's flatware to match the family pattern, although a child might be just as pleased with a pattern of tableware that is his very own.

Just about the best flatware for children that we've found is in stainless steel. It is good because it is so light, because it requires no special care and because it will resist the rough treatment of the beginner.

In shopping for such a set, we learned that there are two types of miniature flatware.

For the one to three-year-olds, there is a "baby set" with a special fork and spoon. This set has shortened handles that are easier to grasp and easier to turn from a scooping to an eating position. The fork tines can be used for spearing food, but are blunt enough to be safe for baby.

The spoon bowls are deeper so that food is more likely to stay in place even when the spoon is tilted. Because the flatware fits his grip, a child naturally learns to hold the pieces correctly.

By the time a child can handle a knife he is ready to cope with a "beginner set". These are generally made for and used by four to eight-year-olds. The sets are approximately three-quarters the size of adult sets.

Although some manufacturers make complete 5-piece beginner sets, most popular sets are made up of just a knife, fork and spoon

The scooping and turning maneuver is much easier with the shortened handle and the shorter knife gives th child better leverag for cutting, as well as greater control.

Dear Abby:

by Abigail Van Buren

She Wants A Choice!

DEAR ABBY: Please give the gas station folks a break and ask the vacationing public to have mercy on us. They drive up, grab a hose and rinse off their cars. It doesn't bother them that they make a mess for others to walk through. They want their wind shields cleaned, but don't need gas. And they've bought their oil by the case somewhere else. They even ask to borrow your tools They pile out in droves to use the restroom. Sometimes they spend half an hour in there — changing clothes. Our regular customers can't get in for the free loaders. In a nice clean business like a liquor store, the customer spends more in 30 seconds than he does at a service station for a 500-mile trip. And the clerk doesn't have to clean windshields, check lighter fluid or anything. The customer doesn't expect a thing except the right change and a paper bag to put the bottle in. He even gets oiled on his own time and off the premises. Thanks a lot.

"LEFTY"

DEAR ABBY: I am a 14-year-old girl who needs help desperately. I consider myself lucky because I have a nice family and we have everything we need. My big problem (and please don't laugh) is that I have a mustache. Boys are always telling me I need a "shave Even some of my girl friends have tried to tell me in a nice way that I'd be pretty if I got rid of that mustache. I don't want to shave it off, and I'm afraid to use some of the stuff I see advertised because I've heard it would leave my upper lip rough like a man's beard, or maybe it would leave scars. Can you help me?

MUSTACHED

DEAR MUSTACHED: You are a very wise young lady to consider so carefully the results before attempting to remove unwanted hair from your face. Ask your mother to take you to a skin doctor, and let HIM tell you which method is best for you. There are many.

DEAR ABBY: You say there is no discrimination in cities. Well, you are 100 per cent wrong. At this very moment there is discrimination against hiring overweight people for stenographic work. I went on interview after interview and was turned down. I was finally told outright that I wasn't hired because of my weight. I am only 27 pounds overweight and am trying to lose it. But in the meantime I have to live. If given a chance, I'm sure I could do as good a job as any thin girl. This is certainly not the land of opportunity for the heavy-set person.

STARVING

DEAR STARVING: While "appearances" do play an important role in job-getting, a 27-pound roll shouldn't disqualify you for every job. There must be other factors.

DEAR ABBY: We run a restaurant and have hired a good professional organist. We have a few patrons who like to play "a couple of ditties" on our organ when they come in. When they ask, we hate to turn them down, so we tell them to go right ahead and play a "PIECE OR TWO". The trouble is, once they sit down we can't get them to quit. It offends the hired organist and besides, the other patrons don't enjoy these amateurs as much as the amateurs think they do. Other restaurant owners must have this problem, too, Abby.

CHEF

DEAR CHEF: The way to solve your problem is to put a stop to it before it starts.

Slice cake in horizontal halves.

Whip cream until stiff, blend in additional sugar. Spread over cake top.

Just before serving, arrange sliced peaches in a swirl pattern on top, placing a raspberry between each peach slice.

Dear Abby:

by Abigail Van Buren

She Wants A Choice!

DEAR ABBY: Please give the gas station folks a break and ask the vacationing public to have mercy on us. They drive up, grab a hose and rinse off their cars. It doesn't bother them that they make a mess for others to walk through. They want their wind shields cleaned, but don't need gas. And they've bought their oil by the case somewhere else. They even ask to borrow your tools. They pile out in droves to use the restroom. Sometimes they spend half an hour in there — changing clothes. Our regular customers can't get in for the free loaders. In a nice clean business like a liquor store, the customer spends more in 30 seconds than he does at a service station for a 500-mile trip. And the clerk doesn't have to clean windshields, check lighter fluid or anything. The customer doesn't expect a thing except the right change and a paper bag to put the bottle in. He even gets oiled on his own time and off the premises. Thanks a lot.

"LEFTY"

DEAR ABBY: I am a 14-year-old girl who needs help desperately. I consider myself lucky because I have a nice family and we have everything we need. My big problem (and please don't laugh) is that I have a mustache. Boys are always telling me I need a "shave. Even some of my girl friends have tried to tell me in a nice way that I'd be pretty if I got rid of that mustache. I don't want to shave it off, and I'm afraid to use some of the stuff I see advertised because I've heard it would leave my upper lip rough like a man's beard, or maybe it would leave scars. Can you help me?

MUSTACHED

DEAR MUSTACHED: You are a very wise young lady to consider so carefully the results before attempting to remove unwanted hair from your face. Ask your mother to take you to a skin doctor, and let HIM tell you which method is best for you. There are many.

DEAR ABBY: You say there is no discrimination in cities. Well, you are 100 per cent wrong. At this very moment there is discrimination against hiring overweight people for stenographic work. I went on interview after interview and was turned down. I was finally told outright that I wasn't hired because of my weight. I am only 27 pounds overweight and am trying to lose it. But in the meantime I have to live. If given a chance, I'm sure I could do as good a job as any thin girl. This is certainly not the land of opportunity for the heavy-set person.

STARVING

DEAR STARVING: While "appearances" do play an important role in job-getting, a 27-pound roll shouldn't disqualify you for every job. There must be other factors.

DEAR ABBY: We run a restaurant and have hired a good professional organist. We have a few patrons who like to play "a couple of ditties" on our organ when they come in. When they ask, we hate to turn them down, so we tell them to go right ahead and play a "PIECE OR TWO". The trouble is, once they sit down we can't get them to quit. It offends the hired organist and besides, the other patrons don't enjoy these amateurs as much as the amateurs think they do. Other restaurant owners must have this problem, too, Abby.

CHEF

DEAR CHEF: The way to solve your problem is to put a stop to it before it starts.

Ever use a liquid from cooked corned beef for cooking dried beans?

Baltimore '9' Vaults into AL 2nd Place

Billy Hitchcock's Crew Climbs from 6th, Are Flying High

By THE ASSOCATED PRESS

Five short weeks ago Billy Hitchcock's job as Baltimore Orioles manager seemed in jeopardy. The club had plummeted from the top to sixth place in the American League within 10 days. Reports of dissension were bandied. Hitchcock was criticized as having lost control of the team and making all the wrong moves.

But the Orioles began to fly high in July. Their latest winning string reached four games Friday night when they blanked the Chicago White Sox 6-0 behind Milt Pappas' three-hit pitching, and they've climbed into second place—the highest they've been since June 10.

New York's injury-ridden but victory-prone Yankees maintained their commanding eight-game lead by clipping Minnesota 6-5 with the help of two unearned runs and neat relief pitching by Steve Hamilton.

Boston ended a losing string at four games beating the Los Angeles Angels 5-4 with a three-run sixth inning.

Ken Retzer's two-run homer in the seventh carried Washington over Detroit 3-1, snapping a run of five Senator losses.

Cleveland trimmed Kansas City 3-2, scoring the deciding run in the seventh inning on Moe Drabowsky's wild pitch.

In the National League, Philadelphia shaded the Los Angeles Dodgers 6-5, St. Louis downed the Chicago Cubs 4-1, San Francisco beat Pittsburgh 6-4, Cincinnati battered Milwaukee 11-1 and Houston clouted New York 7-3 for the Mets' 20th straight defeat on the road, a major league record.

Pappas, who owns an 11-3 lifetime mark against Chicago, checked the White Sox on three singles and got home run support from Boog Powell and John Orsino.

Hamilton saved Jim Bouton's 13th victory by retiring the last two batters in the ninth inning after the Twins had moved to within a run of the Yanks on a double by Earl Battey and John Goryl's homer. Hector Lopez, who had three hits, hit a homer with one on in the second.

Twins third baseman Rich Rollins was taken to a hospital for observation after being struck on the head by Lopez hard grounder in the fourth. Outfielder-catcher John Blanchard became the Yanks' latest casualty with a bronchial infection that put him in the hospital.

Toledo Rookie Lauded by Browns

HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — Coach Blanton Collier of the Cleveland Browns says rookie Frank Baker of the University of Toledo "just could be the big back we've been looking for."

Baker, a 6-foot-2, 215-pounder, started out as a halfback at the Browns' training camp here. He moved to slot end and returned to the running back position Friday. At slot end he showed he could catch the football.

Baker has the size and speed to play halfback in the national Football League, said Collier.

The club was slated to scrimmage today, in practice uniforms and with no punting or placekicking.

Smart Money, Proclaim Vie At Scioto Downs

Van Camp Horse Has Pole Position In Featured Event

On July 19th, Smart Money suffered his first defeat at Scioto Downs at the flying feet of season champion, Proclaim.

Tonight the pair of brilliant 4 year-olds tangles again in the featured [illegible] Handicap Pace

Owned by Dave Handel of New Rochelle, New York, Smart Money had cracked off three straight wins this year. He started the season with a 2:02 clocking at Scioto, then had his win skein ended by Proclaim.

Proclaim, owned by the Belle Aire Farm of Washington C. H., paced to a new season record for 4 year-old pacing mares over a mile track with a victory in 2:00 1-5 at Scioto on June 26.

While Smart Money and Proclaim are settling their battle, the remainder of the small select field could beat them both. Scoring from the number four post position will be Little Hostess, the Fayette County Flyer, owned by McKinley Kirk, and the Vallery Brothers. Reined by Real Cormier, this 5 year-old daughter of Victory Song won her last start in 2:02 1-5.

In third position at the gate comes Royal Mac Spencer, owned by Roy Butt of Columbus, who made the only break of the season in his last start. Prior to that Mac had posted four wins, the fastest in 2:02 1-5.

In second position is Mr. Dudley from the powerful Harold Snodgrass stable. This gelded son of Dudley Hanover, has posted a mile this year in 2:01 3-5 over Hazel Park's five-eighths mile oval in Michigan.

Scoring from the pole position is Chita Can, the handsome son of Florican, owned by T. D. Van Camp of Circleville, who has won in 2:05 1-5 over a half mile track this year.

Rifle, Pistol Shoot Slated Next Week

CAMP PERRY, Ohio (AP)—The nation's biggest rifle and pistol shoot gets under way here next week on a mile-long system of shooting ranges.

Some 7,000 marksmen are registered for the National Rifle and Pistol Matches, and altogether some 15,000 persons are expected to pass through Camp Perry during the month-long program.

The entrants will be taking advantage of a government program to encourage marksmanship by providing training, ammunition and guns in connection with the annual competition.

The Army, Navy and Air Force will be represented at the meet, along with police departments and other civilian shooters. The meet is run by the National Rifle Association and the Board for Promotion of Rifle Practice under Government Sponsorship.

The pistol firing school opens Friday and the first pistol match is scheduled for Aug. 5. Rifle matches start the following week.

A highlight of the program will be a match Aug. 11 pitting Civil War buffs, with muzzleloaders, against top military shooters using semiautomatic rifles.

Baltimore '9' Vaults into AL 2nd Place

Billy Hitchcock's Crew Climbs from 6th, Are Flying High

By THE ASSOCATED PRESS

Five short weeks ago Billy Hitchcock's job as Baltimore Orioles manager seemed in jeopardy. The club had plummeted from the top to sixth place in the American League within 10 days. Reports of dissension were bandied. Hitchcock was criticized as having lost control of the team and making all the wrong moves.

But the Orioles began to fly high in July. Their latest winning string reached four games Friday night when they blanked the Chicago White Sox 6-0 behind Milt Pappas' three-hit pitching, and they've climbed into second place—the highest they've been since June 10.

New York's injury-ridden but victory-prone Yankees maintained their commanding eight-game lead by clipping Minnesota 6-5 with the help of two unearned runs and neat relief pitching by Steve Hamilton.

Boston ended a losing string at four games beating the Los Angeles Angels 5-4 with a three-run sixth inning.

Ken Retzer's two-run homer in the seventh carried Washington over Detroit 3-1, snapping a run of five Senator losses.

Cleveland trimmed Kansas City 3-2, scoring the deciding run in the seventh inning on Moe Drabowsky's wild pitch.

In the National League, Philadelphia shaded the Los Angeles Dodgers 6-5, St. Louis downed the Chicago Cubs 4-1, San Francisco beat Pittsburgh 6-4, Cincinnati battered Milwaukee 11-1 and Houston clouted New York 7-3 for the Mets' 20th straight defeat on the road, a major league record.

Pappas, who owns an 11-3 lifetime mark against Chicago, checked the White Sox on three singles and got home run support from Boog Powell and John Orsino.

Hamilton saved Jim Bouton's 13th victory by retiring the last two batters in the ninth inning after the Twins had moved to within a run of the Yanks on a double by Earl Battey and John Goryl's homer. Hector Lopez, who had three hits, hit a homer with one on in the second.

Twins third baseman Rich Rollins was taken to a hospital for observation after being struck on the head by Lopez hard grounder in the fourth. Outfielder-catcher John Blanchard became the Yanks' latest casualty with a bronchial infection that put him in the hospital.

Toledo Rookie Lauded by Browns

HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — Coach Blanton Collier of the Cleveland Browns says rookie Frank Baker of the University of Toledo "just could be the big back we've been looking for."

Baker, a 6-foot-2, 215-pounder, started out as a halfback at the Browns' training camp here. He moved to slot end and returned to the running back position Friday. At slot end he showed he could catch the football.

Baker has the size and speed to play halfback in the National Football League, said Collier.

The club was slated to scrimmage today, in practice uniforms and with no punting or placekicking.

Smart Money, Proclaim Vie At Scioto Downs

Van Camp Horse Has Pole Position In Featured Event

On July 19th, Smart Money suffered his first defeat at Scioto Downs at the flying feet of season champion, Proclaim.

Tonight the pair of brilliant 4 year-olds tangles again in the featured $2,500 Handicap Pace

Owned by Dave Handel of New Rochelle, New York, Smart Money had cracked off three straight wins this year. He started the season with a 2:02 clocking at Scioto, then had his win skein ended by Proclaim.

Proclaim, owned by the Belle Aire Farm of Washington C. H., paced to a new season record for 4 year-old pacing mares over a mile track with a victory in 2:00 1-5 at Scioto on June 26.

While Smart Money and Proclaim are settling their battle, the remainder of the small select field could beat them both. Scoring from the number four post position will be Little Hostess, the Fayette County Flyer, owned by McKinley Kirk, and the Vallery Brothers. Reined by Real Cormier, this 5 year-old daughter of Victory Song won her last start in 2:02 1-5.

In third position at the gate comes Royal Mac Spencer, owned by Roy Butt of Columbus, who made the only break of the season in his last start. Prior to that Mac had posted four wins, the fastest in 2:02 1-5.

In second position is Mr. Dudley from the powerful Harold Snodgrass stable. This gelded son of Dudley Hanover, has posted a mile this year in 2:01 3-5 over Hazel Park's five-eighths mile oval in Michigan.

Scoring from the pole position is Chita Can, the handsome son of Florican, owned by T. D. Van Camp of Circleville, who has won in 2:05 1-5 over a half mile track this year.

Rifle, Pistol Shoot Slated Next Week

CAMP PERRY, Ohio (AP)—The nation's biggest rifle and pistol shoot gets under way here next week on a nine-day system of shooting ranges.

Some 7,000 marksmen are registered for the National Rifle and Pistol Matches, and altogether some 15,000 persons are expected to pass through Camp Perry during the month-long program.

The entrants will be taking advantage of a government program to encourage marksmanship by providing training, ammunition and guns in connection with the annual competition.

The Army, Navy and Air Force will be represented at the meet, along with police departments and other civilian shooters. The meet is run by the National Rifle Association and the Board for Promotion of Rifle Practice under Government Sponsorship.

The pistol firing school opens Friday and the first pistol match is scheduled for Aug. 5. Rifle matches start the following week.

A highlight of the program will be a match Aug. 11 pitting Civil War buffs, with muzzleloaders, against top military shooters using semiautomatic rifles.

Savings Bank Topples 14th Loop Victim

Title Races Develop in Final Week of Baseball Schedule

As the final week of the Circleville Youth Baseball program gets under way many tight races in the individual leagues are developing.

In the Babe Ruth Majors Lindsey Bakery is currently on top for the third round championship with a record of three wins. Tuesday night the Bakers meet Kiwanis, 2-1, the only team in the division with a chance of winning the loop.

Should Kiwanis down Lindseys, a playoff will be needed to decide the winner.

In the first round, Kiwanis won a playoff with the Bakers. L. M. Butch jewelers were the second round winners.

Practically the only team with a title cinched is the Savings Bank in the Babe Ruth Minors. They have a record of 14 consecutive wins. Even if they lose their remaining game they would still be well ahead of second place Kochheiser, currently sporting an 8-5 slate.

* * *

IN THE Little League Majors, Coke has the top edge in the third round with a perfect 4-0 slate thus far. The American Legion has an outside chance of coming in for a share of the major division title if they should beat The Herald Wednesday and if Coke should lose to Bingman's Thursday. Coke won the first round, while the Elks won the second round.

In the red league of the Little League minors a three way race for the top spot is developing with Wards, First National bank and the Savings Bank all still very much in contenion.

Wards and the First National Bank have 7-5 slates while the Savings Bank has an 8-4 slate.

In the Black Division IOOF, with a record of 10-3 and Circleville Oil are the contenders. The Oilers must beat the Jaycees Tuesday to earn a shot for the title in a playoff. The Odd Fellows have completed league play.

The Circleville Lumber team has been taking everything in sight in the Mosquito League and has a perfect record. Mac's Goodyear, with a single loss in the first round and one in the second still has a slight chance to force the second round into a play off series if they can topple the Lumbermen from their perch in a game Thursday night.

The Circleville Lumbermen must also defeat Prairie Lanes in a make up tilt Aug. 3 to take the title.

Hawkins Boosts Western Lead

Also-Rans Bad Luck May Be Runnng Out

CHICAGO (AP)—Fred Hawkins might be classed as the most luckless tournament golfer in history.

Since the Antioch, Ill., native turned professional in 1947, he has played in an estimated 400 official tournaments and has won only one, the 1956 Oklahoma City Open.

"It irritates me" said the boyish-looking Hawkins, who will be 40 in another month. "I don't know why I can't win. I have finished second or third many times, but it seems I always manage to put in a bad round."

Hawkins' streak may be ready to end. He entered Saturday's third round of the $50,000 Western Open with a four-stroke lead over the field.

Hawkins, who plays out of El Paso, Tex., and commutes 140 miles a day to and from his parents' Antioch home so "I can visit and get Mom's cooking," has mastered the exacting par 36-35—71 Beverly Country Club course with a hot putter.

He was the first-round leader with a 67, using only 23 strokes on the greens. He had a second round 68 with 26 putts for a halfway total of 135, seven under par.

At second in the race for a $10,000 first prize with 139 were the National Open champion, Julius Boros, with a second round of 67; 51-year-old Sam Snead (68), and Bob McCallister, 29, a pro since 1959 who has won only the Orange County (Calif.) Open in 1961 (70).

At 140 were Arnold Palmer with a 67, Lionel Hebert and Joe Campbell. The Masters' and PGA champion, Jack Nicklaus fell off the pace with a 74, for 143, while British Open winner Bob Charles was way back at 148.

The field was cut from 128 to 80 for Saturday's third round with the cutoff at 150.

Phil Regan, a Detroit pitcher since 1960, turned in his first major league shutout when he blanked the Cleveland Indians, 14-0, on three hits May 10.

Fidgety Kralick Wins for Indians

CLEVELAND (AP)—"I consider him as good a left-hander as there is in the league," says Cleveland Manager Birdie Tebbetts.

He's speaking of fidgety Jack Kralick, who pitched a six-hitter in beating the Kansas City Athletics 3-2 Friday night on a run that scored on a wild pitch by the A's Moe Drabowsky.

Kralick, who often starts slowly, did it again this time. The Athletics got four hits and both runs in the first three innings. Then Kralick retired 16 in a row before giving up a single in the eighth.

Title Races Develop in Final Week of Baseball Schedule

As the final week of the Circleville Youth Baseball program gets under way many tight races in the individual leagues are developing.

In the Babe Ruth Majors Lindsey Bakery is currently on top for the third round championship with a record of three wins. Tuesday night the Bakers meet Kiwanis, 2-1, the only team in the division with a chance of winning the loop.

Should Kiwanis down Lindseys, a playoff will be needed to decide the winner.

Ever wonder how you could judge the finish on wood furniture?

Labels aren't too helpful. They often state only the color of the finish, which has nothing to do with quality, says Miss Dorothy Lawrence, Extension Home Furnishings specialist at Ohio State University.

A good finish is evenly applied. If drips, sage or runs are visible, this indicates poor workmanship. A good finish is made of many thin coats of finish evenly applied — not one or two thick coats.

Run your hand over the wood. The finish should be smooth to the touch with no rough or uneven spots. Most commercial finishes today are applied by spraying. On top quality furniture, hand rubbing is done between coats of finish and after the final coat.

All parts of the furniture should be finished. Drawers should be sanded smooth and finished on the inside. Table leaves and tops should be finished on both sides, especially when made of solid wood, to prevent warping. Finished backs on chests and desks make them more useful, particularly in an open plan house.

Whether you choose a glossy or dull finish depends on your preference and the style of furniture. Very glossy surfaces, especially on dark woods, show finger marks scratches and dust easily. They also reflect light which may prove uncomfortable to one's eyes.

Another quality clue is the skill with which the stain is applied. When skillfully done, the stain will highlight the natural wood grain and or the furniture design.

A good furniture finish is hard, smooth and evenly applied. If stained, the stain enhances the wood and design.

The "right" wall paint has many qualities, says Miss Doris Snook, Extension Housing specialist at Ohio State University. It covers well, retains its color, is durable, is easy to apply, dries quickly, has little odor, cleans easily and well, fits the budget and gives the desired effect.

Color, texture and level of gloss determine whether or not a paint will provide a pleasing background for people and activities. Use these tips for successful painting:

Know the kinds of paint and their qualities; select the proper paint for the job and follow the directions for application; don't try to get by too easily; Use a primer if one is needed; wash the surface if necessary; have the paint store tint and mix paints and get enough at one time for the entire job; don't mix different types or brands of paint; if paint trouble has occurred recently on the surface to be finished, get competent advice before repainting: wipe spatters as you go along with a cloth dampened in the proper solvent; paint under favorable conditions: allow plenty of ventilation for indoor painting; allow the paint to dry hard before using the surface or applying a second coat.

Pickaway's Young Farmers Enjoy Junior Fair Contests

The Junior Fair Livestock Judging and 4-H Rate-of-Gain contests are being repeated again this year for young farmers in the Pickaway County area.

The livestock judging contest will be held 8 p. m Monday in the show barn. All 4-H and FFA members are eligible to participate.

Junior Fair Board members in charge of the contest are Jim Shell, Larry Vance, David McDonald and Robert Bower.

Competition will be offered in classes of dairy cattle, beef cattle, sheep and swine.

* * *

A HEIFER calf is to be awarded the 4-H member under 14 years of age who receives the highest score on dairy judging. The award is made through the courtesy of the Wayne Hines family.

All other awards for the judging contest are donated by The Dunlap Co., Williamsport.

Any boy or girl enrolled in a Pickaway County 4-H Club in 1963 is eligible to enter the 4-H Rate-of-Gain Contest. Either one or two steers may be entered by each contestant.

To be eligible for competition, the contestant must comply with all the rules of the regular 4-H steer - feeding project in Pickaway County and complete the project.

Steers entered in the competition have to be weighed twice. The first weighing was held Jan. 5, 1963 at the Bowling Stockyards. The second weighing will be at the County Fair.

Contest animals must be delivered to the Fairgrounds on Monday and will be weighed immediately after unloading.

* * *

CONTEST steers must have been tagged at the stockyards. Any deviation from the rules plus any changes made by the 4-H Advisory Council will render the contestant ineligible.

A trophy, donated by the Laurelville Grain and Milling Co., will be presented to the member who owns a steer with the most pounds of gain.

A second-place trophy will be awarded and donated by John W. Eshelman & Sons The third-place trophy is to be donated by the Ohio Grain Co.

Abrupt Changes in Rations May Lower Milk Production

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent, Agriculture

A sudden change in ration is one of the "little things" in dairy feeding and management that can bring about large changes in production.

Changes from high-grain to high - roughage rations or from one type of roughage to another should be made gradually. Otherwise, milk production may drop.

What's behind the effect of sudden ration changes on milk production? In many instances the efficiency of the rumen is impaired by the sudden ration changes Like any continuous fermentation process, maximum efficiency of the rumen depends on frequent addition of nutrients and removal of end products of fermentation so that the micro-organisms can continue to grow and carry out their digestive and synthetic functions.

A cow that has been on a high grain ration has mostly starch splitting bacteria in her rumen These must be replaced by cellulose digesting bacteria when a change to a high-roughage ration is made. During this change the rumen can't operate at full efficiency. If the ration change comes during a period of heavy milk production, a drop in production may occur.

* * *

SHIFTING from corn silage and hay to forage-crop silage has given the most acute effect on milk production. It was found that three to four weeks were required for digestibility, dry matter intake and nitrogen utilization to reach normal levels after changing to legume - grass silage.

Experiments involving the measurement of thyroid activity before and after changing to legume - grass silage showed that reduced thyroid function may be involved in some instances of lowered milk production following this ration change.

It is recommended that forage crop silage feeding be started during the dry period. This allows the rumen micro-organisms to adjust to the ration before the stress of lactation begins.

Several other practices will also help reduce the effects of sudden ration changes. Feeding concentrates will help compensate for the grain in corn silage when changing to forage-crop silage.

When possible, avoid refilling silos containing forage - crop silage with corn silage. If this is necessary, use 150 pounds of corn and cob meal per ton of silage as a preservative.

It also helps to use early cut forage for silage which is more easily digested than mature forages. It is advisable to maintain digestible protein of the ration at 8 per cent or higher when feeding large amounts of forage-crop silage.

Fly Control Is Important For Dairymen

R. P. Holdsworth, Extension entomologist, says that flies cause a drop in milk production if not controlled to some degree. Three types annoy dairy cattle — horn flies, face flies, and stable flies.

Holdsworth says it is easy to get rid of horn flies, but face flier are a different story. A tablespoon full of 50 per cent methoxychlor sprinkles over the neck, back and upper sides of each animal and rubbed in by hand will control the horn flies for about two weeks. This is quick, easy and inexpensive.

There is a new insecticide on the market for the control of face flies. It's called ciodrin. It's best applied with a power sprayer using at least one quart per cow This will prevent attack by face flies as well as other flies for about a week.

Face fly sirup is still effective except on very hot days when flies build up to about 50 per face. Sirup is probably the easiest to use.

* * *

FOGGER strength phrethrum is recommended for stable fly control on cows. Flies in the barn can be controlled by spraying the walls and ceilings with cygon, a new material and a good fly killer. Diazinon and malathion also are recommended as wall sprays. but some resistance has been noted.

Milkroom flies can be controlled with a new development, a short strip of plastic impregnated with DDVP hung in the room It's safe to use and will kill flies for several weeks.

Judd Cash, order buyer for Swift and Henry of Kansas City, will speak on "Supply-Demand Influence in the 1963 Feeder Cattle Movement".

Following a noon beef barbecue, directed by the Hardin County Cattle Assn., Dr. Earle Klosterman, animal scientist of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment station, will report on the use of vitamin A in beef cattle rations and a panel will discuss "Costs and Problems in Feeder Cattle Procurement." Dwight Wise, cattle feeder of Fremont, will serve as moderator.

OTHER panelists will include James Huggins, Bucyrus, Paul Lawrence, Harrod, and Sally Sexton, Granville, all cattle feeders; and Charles Lugbill, Archbold, Robert Brachrach, Plymouth and John Bricker, Columbus, all handlers of feeder cattle.

Cooper and Cash, the two morning speakers, also will serve on the panel.

In addition to hearing talks on feeder cattle, persons attending may see exhibits of cattle feedlot equipment. Beef producers desiring to attend this event may go with the county group by contacting the Extension office.

Ever wonder how you could judge the finish on wood furniture?

Labels aren't too helpful. They often state only the color of the finish, which has nothing to do with quality, says Miss Dorothy Lawrence, Extension Home Furnishings specialist at Ohio State University.

A good finish is evenly applied. If drips, sage or runs are visible, this indicates poor workmanship. A good finish is made of many thin coats of finish evenly applied — not one or two thick coats.

Run your hand over the wood. The finish should be smooth to the touch with no rough or uneven spots. Most commercial finishes today are applied by spraying. On top quality furniture, hand rubbing is done between coats of finish and after the final coat.

All parts of the furniture should be finished. Drawers should be sanded smooth and finished on the inside. Table leaves and tops should be finished on both sides, especially when made of solid wood, to prevent warping. Finished backs on chests and desks make them more useful, particularly in an open plan house.

Whether you choose a glossy or dull finish depends on your preference and the style of furniture. Very glossy surfaces, especially on dark woods, show finger marks scratches and dust easily. They also reflect light which may prove uncomfortable to one's eyes.

Another quality clue is the skill with which the stain is applied. When skillfully done, the stain will highlight the natural wood grain and or the furniture design.

A good furniture finish is hard, smooth and evenly applied. If stained, the stain enhances the wood and design.

The "right" wall paint has many qualities, says Miss Doris Snook, Extension Housing specialist at Ohio State University. It covers well, retains its color, is durable, is easy to apply, dries quickly, has little odor, cleans easily and well, fits the budget and gives the desired effect.

Color, texture and level of gloss determine whether or not a paint will provide a pleasing background for people and activities. Use these tips for successful painting:

Know the kinds of paint and their qualities; select the proper paint for the job and follow the directions for application; don't try to get by too easily; Use a primer if one is needed; wash the surface if necessary; have the paint store tint and mix paints and get enough at one time for the entire job; don't mix different types or brands of paint; if paint trouble has occurred recently on the surface to be finished, get competent advice before repainting: wipe spatters as you go along with a cloth dampened in the proper solvent; paint under favorable conditions: allow plenty of ventilation for indoor painting; allow the paint to dry hard before using the surface or applying a second coat.

Pickaway's Young Farmers Enjoy Junior Fair Contests

The Junior Fair Livestock Judging and 4-H Rate-of-Gain contests are being repeated again this year for young farmers in the Pickaway County area.

The livestock judging contest will be held 8 p. m Monday in the show barn. All 4-H and FFA members are eligible to participate.

Junior Fair Board members in charge of the contest are Jim Shell, Larry Vance, David McDonald and Robert Bower.

Competition will be offered in classes of dairy cattle, beef cattle, sheep and swine.

A HEIFER calf is to be awarded the 4-H member under 14 years of age who receives the highest score on dairy judging. The award is made through the courtesy of the Wayne Hines family.

All other awards for the judging contest are donated by The Dunlap Co., Williamsport.

Any boy or girl enrolled in a Pickaway County 4-H Club in 1963 is eligible to enter the 4-H Rate-of-Gain Contest. Either one or two steers may be entered by each contestant.

To be eligible for competition, the contestant must comply with all the rules of the regular 4-H steer - feeding project in Pickaway County and complete the project.

Steers entered in the competition have to be weighed twice. The first weighing was held Jan. 5, 1963 at the Bowling Stockyards. The second weighing will be at the County Fair.

Contest animals must be delivered to the Fairgrounds on Monday and will be weighed immediately after unloading.

* * *

CONTEST steers must have been tagged at the stockyards. Any deviation from the rules plus any changes made by the 4-H Advisory Council will render the contestant ineligible.

A trophy, donated by the Laurelville Grain and Milling Co., will be presented to the member who owns a steer with the most pounds of gain.

A second-place trophy will be awarded and donated by John W. Eshelman & Sons The third-place trophy is to be donated by the Ohio Grain Co.

Abrupt Changes in Rations May Lower Milk Production

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent, Agriculture

A sudden change in ration is one of the "little things" in dairy feeding and management that can bring about large changes in production.

Changes from high-grain to high - roughage rations or from one type of roughage to another should be made gradually. Otherwise, milk production may drop.

What's behind the effect of sudden ration changes on milk production? In many instances the efficiency of the rumen is impaired by the sudden ration changes Like any continuous fermentation process, maximum efficiency of the rumen depends on frequent addition of nutrients and removal of end products of fermentation so that the micro-organisms can continue to grow and carry out their digestive and synthetic functions.

A cow that has been on a high-grain ration has mostly starch splitting bacteria in her rumen These must be replaced by cellulose digesting bacteria when a change to a high-roughage ration is made. During this change the rumen can't operate at full efficiency. If the ration change comes during a period of heavy milk production, a drop in production may occur.

* * *

SHIFTING from corn silage and hay to forage-crop silage has given the most acute effect on milk production. It was found that three to four weeks were required for digestibility, dry matter intake and nitrogen utilization to reach normal levels after changing to legume - grass silage.

Experiments involving the measurement of thyroid activity before and after changing to legume - grass silage showed that reduced thyroid function may be involved in some instances of lowered milk production following this ration change.

It is recommended that forage-crop silage feeding be started during the dry period. This allows the rumen micro-organisms to adjust to the ration before the stress of lactation begins.

Several other practices will also help reduce the effects of sudden ration changes. Feeding concentrates will help compensate for the grain in corn silage when changing to forage-crop silage.

When possible, avoid refilling silos containing forage - crop silage with corn silage. If this is necessary, use 150 pounds of corn and cob meal per ton of silage as a preservative.

It also helps to use early cut forage for silage which is more easily digested than mature forages. It is advisable to maintain digestible protein of the ration at 8 per cent or higher when feeding large amounts of forage-crop silage.

Fly Control Is Important For Dairymen

R. P. Holdsworth, Extension entomologist, says that flies cause a drop in milk production if not controlled to some degree. Three types annoy dairy cattle — horn flies, face flies, and stable flies.

Holdsworth says it is easy to get rid of horn flies, but face flier are a different story. A tablespoon full of 50 per cent methoxychlor sprinkles over the neck, back and upper sides of each animal and rubbed in by hand will control the horn flies for about two weeks. This is quick, easy and inexpensive.

There is a new insecticide on the market for the control of face flies. It's called ciodrin. It's best applied with a power sprayer using at least one quart per cow This will prevent attack by face flies as well as other flies for about a week.

Face fly sirup is still effective except on very hot days when flies build up to about 50 per face. Sirup is probably the easiest to use.

* * *

FOGGER strength phrethrum is recommended for stable fly control on cows. Flies in the barn can be controlled by spraying the walls and ceilings with cygon, a new material and a good fly killer. Diazinon and malathion also are recommended as wall sprays. but some resistance has been noted.

Milkroom flies can be controlled with a new development, a short strip of plastic impregnated with DDVP hung in the room It's safe to use and will kill flies for several weeks.
